SENATOR FAIRBANKS.

KNOCK-OUT BLOW FOR IOWA IDEA

Standpatters Run Roughshod
Over Gov. Cummins.

His Resolutions Were Laid on the Table at Meeting of the Delegation—Cummins May Make Fight on Floor of Convention.

Chicago, June 20.—The "Iowa Idea" was emphatically laid on the table today by the Iowa delegation. It is understood, however, that Governor Cummins will advocate it on the floor of the convention in supporting the Handsbrough resolution for tariff revision and reciprocity.

The Iowa delegation met and organized today. This ceremony occupied but fifteen minutes. At its conclusion Governor Cummins took the floor and presented his "idea" concisely embodied in a set of resolutions. Discussion which lasted for an hour and a half followed, when the resolutions were laid on the table by an overwhelming vote. The details of the vote were not given.

The Cummins resolutions, which is the Iowa idea, up to date, are as follows: "Resolved, That it is the sense of the delegation that the national republican platform about to be adopted should be broad enough to furnish comfortable standing room for all republicans who believe in the essential principles and policies of the party; that upon the subject of tariff and reciprocity it should embody in some form the following statements:

"First. Clear and emphatic declaration of the time proven policy of protection. "Second. An unmistakable recognition of the fact that the tariff schedules must be readjusted at reasonable times to meet the changes of the conditions of production; and that any such readjustment should be made by the friends of protection.

"Third. That at the next session of the present congress the subject should be taken up and such changes in the schedules should be made as are required to preserve for our producers and secure for our consumers adequate protection—no more, no less.

"Fourth. A plain and forcible declaration for reciprocity to be established either by treaty or by act of congress as circumstances may demand, whenever the policy can be employed. To increase production at home and increase the general welfare whether in competitive or non-competitive things."

No action was taken by the delegation as to the vice presidential nomination, although the sentiment seems to be for Fairbanks.

TEXAS DEMOCRATS GATHER.

State Convention Convened at San Antonio Today.

San Antonio, Tex., June 20.—The representatives of Texas democracy are here in large numbers to attend the state convention, which convenes tomorrow to select delegates to the national convention. The Parker sentiment is overwhelming and instruction for him is considered a foregone conclusion. The comparatively few Hearst supporters here give no indication of making a fight for an unopposed delegate. Whether the committee shall make a declaration on national political issues is an open question of which each side has influential support.

Owing to the large number of candidates for delegates at large it has been practically decided to send eight delegates at large and eight alternates instead of four.

It is also certain that Senators C. A. Culberson and J. W. Bailey may be among the number. R. G. Duff, of Beaumont, will be temporary chairman and Clarence Chesley, of the Fort Worth Record, is slated for permanent chairman.

New York Ceases To Oppose and Will Vote for the Hoosier Senator.

OPPOSITION HAS MADE
SENATOR VERY POPULAR

In Fact More Enthusiasm Is Manifested for the Indiana Man
Than for Roosevelt—No
Cheers for the President.

By Jos. Ohl.

Chicago, June 20.—(Special.)—New York gave up the fight against Fairbanks tonight. At the caucus of the delegation, Governor Odell moved that the state endorse Fairbanks. This was unanimously carried, and Senator Platt was authorized to cast the vote. When Senator Chauncey Depew announced the result to the crowd at the auditorium there was practically no enthusiasm over his mention of Roosevelt's name, but a lot of it over Fairbanks.

The fight the politicians have made upon the Hoosier has reacted, and, instead of injuring him, has made him the most popular figure with the convention crowds.

Chicago, June 20.—The Indiana delegation held a meeting in Governor Durbin's room today, when the vice presidential nomination of Senator Fairbanks was discussed. After adjournment it was stated that they were just where they were before, and were without definite plans. At the same time it was said that the attitude of the delegation was that Indiana would be pleased to have Senator Fairbanks receive the nomination. A motion declaring that to be the sense of the delegation was made, but Senator Fairbanks said that was stronger than he desired, and the motion was withdrawn. Members of the delegation differed as to the position they state should take in view of this development, but individually several said they would like to have the senator nominated and the state would appreciate the honor.

Fairbanks Speaks.

Senator Fairbanks made a speech of some length, saying that he had not been a candidate, and was not a candidate now; that he had been urged to become a candidate, and that he had not changed his position from the time he was first mentioned for the place. The senator would not be put in the attitude of seeking the place. Members of the delegation said that the senator would accept, but it was not the intention of Indiana to present his name to the convention.

Fairbanks for vice president will receive the solid vote of Washington. This announcement was made today by Senator Ankeny.

The Kentucky delegation is divided on the vice presidency. Majority, however, are favorable to the Indiana senator. A caucus is to be held late today, when an effort will be made to unite on a candidate.

Long Is for Taft.

John D. Long, of Massachusetts, and former secretary of the navy, today authorized the Associated Press to announce that his candidate for the vice presidency was William H. Taft, secretary of war, whom he regards as in every way the most available and best man for the office.

"There can be no question of the strength of Mr. Taft," said Mr. Long. "He has made his record. The country knows him, and the ticket—Roosevelt and Taft—would, in my opinion, sweep the country. My reasons for favoring Mr. Taft are these:

"First, his eminent qualifications as a presiding officer, dignity, sound judgment and deliberation are characteristics of the man.

"Second, his close friendship for the president. He would certainly make an agreeable running mate for Mr. Roosevelt.

"Third, the fact that he is splendidly qualified for the increased responsibilities, which would devolve upon the vice president in case of an emergency, and, lastly, or perhaps I should have said, first, the fact that he is a strong sentiment throughout the country tending toward Taft for the presidency in 1908.

"My suggestion of Mr. Taft is every where being warmly received, and especially among the eastern delegations, the sentiment seems to favor him for the vice presidential nomination."

Pennsylvania for Cannon.

"Speaker Cannon is primarily our selection for the vice presidency," said Congressman Patterson, "but he is so unequivocally opposed to it, that out of respect to his wishes we are not pushing him forward. The Illinois candidate, Congressman Hitt, is a good man for the

Convention Promises To Be One of the Most Perfunctory Gatherings Ever Held—"Everything Is Fixed"—Hanna and Quay Are Missed.

Chicago, June 20.—With the time occupied in the caucuses by state delegations, which with a few exceptions were mere ratification meetings held to approve the state convention programmes the day preceding the opening of the republican national convention has been the quietest ever known as the forerunner of similar gatherings. Senators and representatives in congress were as thick on the streets and in the hotel lobbies as they are in the national capital when a particularly uneventful or dry debate is in progress in congress. Figures prominent in the political strife of former national conventions were everywhere. They mingled with delegates and others not on the inside, talking of something which promised even momentary interest.

Programme All Mapped Out.
When the leaders reached Chicago a few days ago they found nothing for them to do. The programme for the convention was mapped out weeks ago and there was a full realization that it was unalterable.

The principal diversions were offered by the caucuses of the Iowa, Illinois and Washington delegations. Governor Cummins presented to the Hawkeye delegation the "Iowa Idea" in an entirely new dress. It was in the form of a plank setting forth the "idea" as a declaration for reciprocity and reduction of tariff schedules. It was rejected by the delegation and this sounded its death knell so far as the present convention is concerned.

In the Illinois caucus the contest was for the chairmanship of the delegation. Senator Cullom was opposed by the Governor Yates faction, but won out handily. It is conceded that his defeat would have prevented his reelection to the senate.

In the Washington caucus Senator Ankeny was elected national committeeman against the combined opposition of former Committeeman James M. Ashton and J. S. McMillan, both of whom were candidates for the position.

What has been popularly termed the "Indiana puzzle" was one of the features of the day. The members of the delegation from the Hoosier state met to determine their course in regard to the boom for Senator Fairbanks for the vice presidency. Senator Fairbanks attended the meeting and addressed the delegates. He talked for fifteen minutes, the meeting adjourned and the delegation was no wiser concerning his wishes, beyond a reiteration of his statement that he did not desire his state to present his name for the vice presidency.

SOME CURIOSITIES OF CONVENTION HALL.

ONE hundred and seventy thousand flags are used inside the building; 30,000 on the outside.

The speakers' platform is in the middle of the auditorium. The desk used is presented by Mr. Heffelfinger, of Minneapolis, the father of "Pudge" Heffelfinger, the great Yale guard. He gave it in 1892. At this table William McKinley presided and was nominated from it in 1896 and 1900.

On the ground floor of the convention hall there is a hospital room 60 by 120 feet for emergency cases. Five physicians and eight nurses will be in attendance.

In the basement of the Coliseum two telegraph companies have sixty-two instruments, with many operators. One hundred uniformed messengers will receive and deliver dispatches.

Hanna and Quay Missed.
Expressions of genuine regret at the absence of those familiar at gatherings, heard on every side. Men who have played leading roles in the art of making tickets and platforms, men whose personality, shrewdness or qualifications of persuasiveness have changed entire states or sections of the country are missed in the hotel lobbies and the various headquarters. Some of these have figured in republican conventions for a quarter of a century, notably the late Senator Matthews.

WHITE HOUSE BOOMS FOR THE YEAR 1908 CLASH AT CHICAGO

That Is the Reason for All Seeming Confusion Regarding Second Place.

ROOT AND ODELL PLAN
TO KILL OFF FAIRBANKS

Men Who Would Like To Run for the Presidency in 1908 Are Anxious To Put Fairbanks Where He Would Likely Be Innocuous.

By Jos. Ohl.

Chicago, June 20.—(Special.)—Strenuous efforts have been made during the day to inject some life into this convention, those centering about second place. The vice presidential nomination has been the only thing giving promise of anything like a fight, and all day it has been worked for all it was worth, only to finish up where it began, with the apparent certainty of the nomination of Senator Fairbanks. One man after another has been moved to the front as a possible dangerous rival to the lengthy Hoosier statesman, and all with a purpose.

They Are After Fairbanks.
Underlying all this vice presidential talk, and giving inspiration to it is just one thing. This is the clashing of the 1908 presidential boom. It is all a play for the future.

The booming of first one man and then another for second place upon this year's ticket has been part and parcel of a carefully arranged scheme of certain gentlemen who aspire to the presidency to put Fairbanks in a hole with a view to eliminating him as a factor in the big race four years hence. For it seems that a number of eminent gentlemen made bold to ignore the white house intimations that still another term after the next will be due Theodore Roosevelt, and they have the temerity to count themselves in the 1908 running.

The position of Senator Fairbanks is well understood by the other men who are in that class. He is willing enough to take second place this year if it comes to him in a way that will not work harm to his 1908 boomlet, if another words, he can get the vice presidency without seeming to desire it. To this end he will not say he is a candidate for the second place. And solely for the purpose of breaking up his little schemes, all the other aspirants are trying to force him out into the open with an announcement of his candidacy.

Odell and Root Fight Fairbanks.

First kill of Fairbanks, that is the tip which has been passing between the camps of the Indiana senator's rivals, Elihu Root is one of them, and Governor Ben Odell is another. Both from New York they are seldom together in politics, this time their interests seem to be the same. Each has his eye on the presidential nomination four years hence and both regard Fairbanks a dangerous rival, particularly dangerous, if his present plans succeed. The first thing Root and Odell did upon reaching Chicago was to spring their talk for Cannon. Root came out in the open and said that if Fairbanks wanted this vice presidential nomination he should declare himself a candidate for the place. The theory of these worthies is that if Fairbanks once openly declares himself a candidate for the second place, his declaration will operate as an estoppel against his asking for first place later on. But Cannon does not propose to allow himself to be used in any such way, so after he had sat down on that boom, and after the man in the white house, hearing of Odell's talk about Cannon being necessary to the ticket, in order to pull the president through in his own home state, had sent word that under the circumstances it was an insult to him, the Cannon boom collapsed.

Plotters Turn to Hitt.

Then the plotters turned to Hitt, and talked long and loud about this man from Illinois being the president's own choice, but no enthusiasm could be stirred up over Mr. Hitt. So early this morning another vice presidential dark horse was trotted out in the person of Secretary of War Taft. The first suggestion in this direction came from Massachusetts, ostensibly from National Committeeman Murray Crane, but really from Willy Lodge, who sees no reason why he should not be accounted a presidential possibility. The Massachusetts boomers then raised a mighty crusade for Taft, the big secretary, too far from the scene to quell this "boom" as he would do if he were here where he could have one chance to sit down upon Every indication is that they will look in vain.

SPEAKER CANNON.

STANDPATTERS TO FIX PLATFORM

There Will Be Little Comfort
for the Revisionists.

Party Will Go Before the Country
Pledged To Maintain the High Tariff Wall, Behind Which the Trusts Breed and Grow Bloat.

Chicago, June 20.—The men who are to examine the platform which has been in the possession of Senator Lodge for several days have been selected by the various state delegations, and there is practically no doubt that the declaration for protection will be emphatic and that there will be but little comfort for the tariff revisionists.

A pledge to make changes in schedules when "such changes are necessary" is the only concession that will be made by the "stand-patters." Possibly, the wording may be changed, and those who have been talking revision will secure the use of the word "revised" to express the idea that is to be conveyed, but even this is considered doubtful. The majority are against having anything like a general revision of the tariff suggested, and will contend for the words "changes in tariff schedules" as ample to cover all that is intended by the republican party.

But Few Revisionists.

Senator Hansbrough, who intends to offer a provision for a revision declaration, has not received much support. Only Oregon seems to have approved the revision idea, the senator's own state declaration refusing to give him support. Oregon also declared against a ship subsidy, but it is not intended to make the declaration for the improvement of the merchant marine indorse any particular plan. Various plans are now being considered by the joint congressional commission and the platform will not attempt to anticipate the commission's report.

Some interest was displayed during the day in the effort to secure the incorporation of an anti-polygamy resolution in the platform. It is being urged especially by the various women's organizations that have been so ardent in their fight to unseat Senator Smoot, of Utah. One prominent man who is a member of the resolutions committee, said there could be no harm in a declaration against polygamy any more than in a declaration against bigamy. But Senator Smoot thinks that any declaration on the subject will be used to his disadvantage in the senate. Also, it is felt there is the possibility that any declaration might materially injure the republicans in several western states, where there is a large Mormon vote.

Several other suggestions not now contained in the prepared draft of the platform will be made. One of these declares for international arbitration. Another urging that the interstate commerce commission be given more power to enforce its decisions will be offered.

Territories in Turmoil.

The territories are in a turmoil about a declaration as to admission. New Mexico and some Oklahoma men want a declaration in favor of the bill which has passed the house and is pending in the senate providing for the admission of Arizona and New Mexico as one state and Oklahoma and Indian Territory as another.

Arizona delegates are very much opposed to anything being done, while Indian Territory delegates say that state-

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours: a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains the linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it, or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, finds every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. hood is so remote that they want a declaration in favor of home rule in appointments in the territories.

No action was taken at the caucus of the Kansas delegation beyond organizing. Such questions as the vice presidency and the platform were not considered, but will come up at another caucus to be held tomorrow.

At the meetings of the New Hampshire, Texas and Delaware delegations today Senator Fairbanks was endorsed for the vice presidency.

Resolutions ranking R. B. Hawley for his services as national committeeman were passed by the Texas delegation.

While no formal action was taken by the Utah delegation on the question, the members will oppose any reference to the Mormon question in the platform.

Sloan Simpson, who was a member of the Rough Riders in the Spanish war, was chosen by the Texas delegation to notify the president-elect of his nomination and was vigorously applauded.

Louisiana Lily Whites.

A vigorous campaign has been inaugurated by the unseated "lily white" delegation from Louisiana to have the committee on credentials of the convention reverse the action of the national committee. Ex-Governor Warmoth, of Louisiana, is in charge of this campaign and an elaborate brief was brought forth today to make history in the case.

Governor Warmoth's reply to the statement that National Committeeman Harry S. New told the national committee that Indiana would be lost to the republicans if the "lily whites" were seated. It is found difficult to combat the effect this statement has made on the minds of men who will make up the credentials committee.

The temporarily successful faction went before the national committee with the charge that the "lily white" delegation pledged to exclude the negro from politics wherever possible. This statement will be combatted with figures showing numerous instances where colored office holders are now drawing federal salaries on "lily white" credentials. Charges of charges of disloyalty to party will be brought against the so-called "black and tan" delegation.

The Alabama delegation will seek the introduction into the platform of a resolution pledging the party and its members to such legislation "as shall secure to all citizens of the republic complete liberty and exact equality."

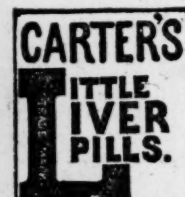

Another portion of the resolution declares in favor of the most stringent system of criminal laws against peonage.

Oregon Bumps the Tariff.

The Oregon delegation met today and elected W. R. L. Ayer chairman; C. H. Carey, member of the national committee; and J. W. Campbell, member of the committee on resolutions. Delegates voted in favor of tariff revision in the platform against an indorsement of the ship subsidy.

The Wyoming state delegation perfected its organization today. The "stand pat" policy was indorsed and no expression was made as to the vice presidential nomination there is a sentiment in favor of Senator Fairbanks. Senator Warren was selected as chairman of the delegation and J. E. Cosgriff secretary.

At a meeting of the Illinois delegation today Senator Shelby M. Cullom was elected chairman; C. H. Deere was elected vice president of the delegation; Grange Stewart was named for member of committee on credentials; Senator A. J. Hopkins was named for committee on resolutions, and Frank O. Lowden was elected member of the national committee. Isaac Elwood was named on the committee to notify the president.

REASON OF FIGHT ON FAIRBANKS

It. During a considerable portion of today, therefore, Secretary Taft's name has been freely used by the plotters against Fairbanks, Foraker, of Ohio, immediately took it up. He is looking to 1908 himself. He not only wants to queer Fairbanks, but he reasons that Taft's being put on this year's ticket might also dispose of him, the man in his own state form whom Foraker has most to fear. The senator showed his animus towards Fairbanks and his plans this morning. When he said: "This convention is in no mood to let any man take a mortgage upon the presidency."

The Ohio senator in that one sentence disclosed the hope of the other aspirants that they may be able to force Fairbanks from his present point of vantage, and the designs back of that hope. The New York crowd immediately joined in the Taft talk.

Beveridge Against Fairbanks.

Beveridge, of Indiana, did everything he could to push it along, but, of course, he cannot afford to come out in the open and do anything that will look like hitting at his Indiana colleague who would work infinite harm to the Beveridge aspiration were there open treachery on the part of the latter. Not one of these, it is to be borne in mind, entertains a suspicion that Taft will be nominated. All of them know that the big secretary would not permit his name to be used in this connection, if he could prevent. They realize that it is not friendship to use it this way, but they are willing to sacrifice anybody and to go to any length in order to prevent Fairbanks getting this vice presidential nomination in a way that may put him to the fore prominently for the succession. That is the sole purpose of the fight they have been making and may keep up until somebody is nominated. There is a lot of bad blood in this fight. Fairbanks understands what these people are after, and he is determined that he will not be forced into the position of being an active candidate for second place. He wants it, but he figures that he has chances for the future would be better if the presidential nomination goes to somebody else, than if he has to become an avowed candidate to get it. He says he is not a candidate. He has authorized his friends to say he will take the nomination if the convention wants him, since it is an honor no man should decline, but further than that he will not go. The delegates generally understand the real inspiration of these plots and many of them are manifesting a disposition to resent it, which is helping along the cause of the tall sycamore. It looks tonight as if his nomination is certain.

What Fairbanks Says.

Finding tonight that all their efforts to smoke Fairbanks out and make him ask for the place upon the ticket had failed, the little coterie of rivals tonight practically abandoned the contest. Fairbanks will say nothing more than his friends have been saying on his authority. He did not open his mouth this afternoon, but his position of vantage was in no sense abandoned when he said: "If the delegates deem it wise to place my name on the national ticket I feel that it would be my duty as an American citizen to bow to their call."

"Have you been promised the nomination for president in 1908?" was asked. "Some of your friends insisted, you know, that you would not take second place without such a promise."

"That is just four years too far ahead for me to talk about," returned the senator, smiling.

"But is that the condition on which you allow your name to be presented to the convention for second place?" insisted the questioner.

"I have not been formally asked to take the place as yet," returned the senator, still smiling confidentially, "but if the people of the country represented at this convention see fit to honor me by placing my name on the ticket there will be no conditions asked. They have the right to call on men to serve the party and it is the duty of such men to answer the call of the convention, which represents the people."

Alabama for Fairbanks.

Nothing apparently can now head off the Fairbanks movement. The Alabama delegation at its meeting this evening decided to start the roll call by casting its solid vote for him, and it is among the possibilities that before the ballot comes the few men who are active candidates will decide it is better not to have their names presented at all, as Fairbanks will be nominated unanimously. In any event it will be Roosevelt and Fairbanks.

place. As to the platform our emblem is 'We are standpaters.'"

The meeting of the delegation was very harmonious. Governor Odell personally named Senator Platt as chairman of the delegation and moved that he be allowed to cast New York's vote as a unit on all propositions. When the governor moved that New York instruct for Fairbanks for vice president, there was cheer, and former State Senator J. Sloan Faunt said:

"I want to say that I think Governor Odell's proposition a very sensible one. We all know Senator Fairbanks and we know that he is a capable and patriotic man. He will lend strength to the ticket."

All for Roosevelt.

The resolution was unanimously adopted. Prior to this Delegate Coman had asked that Theodore Roosevelt be selected as the choice for president and the chairman putting the motion said: "All in favor say aye. There are no negatives."

Sensor Dewey was chosen chairman. Senator Platt to cast the vote of the delegation and William L. Ward to be national committeeman.

At its meeting the Florida delegation, after electing officers, indorsed Senator Fairbanks for the vice presidency. J. H. Coombs was elected national committeeman and W. H. Northup member of the committee on resolutions.

The Kentucky delegation held a brief meeting late today and decided to postpone until Wednesday action with regard to the choice of the delegation for the vice presidency. The statement, however, was made by several of the delegates that with one exception they are favorable to Mr. Fairbanks. George W. Long was named for member of the resolutions committee and John W. Yerkes to succeed himself as national committeeman.

Driver Loses Control and Machine Runs Away.

Rosario, Va., June 20.—Frank Lambert, a Norfolk and Western railway locomotive engineer, was fatally injured and killed by a train of the same road today. The accident occurred in an automobile accident here tonight. The machine struck a rough place in the street while going at high speed. Lambert, who was driving the automobile, lost his grip on the lever and the machine got away from him.

they S. Quay, of Pennsylvania, and the late William J. Sewell, of New Jersey. One whose absence is felt more perhaps than any other man is the late Senator Hanna, though his debut on the political stage is of more recent date. Numerous pictures of the late senator attest his popularity.

But the absence of the great men mentioned does not indicate that the cast for the play which opens at the Coliseum tomorrow has weakened. In the shoes of the men who have passed away are politicians equally as astute, who have had their training as masterhands. They may not be so well known in national affairs and their names not so effective as those of the departed, but they are ready and competent to perform any task that offers. The only difficulty is that the task is not there. Contests worthy of the name are utterly lacking. The fight between the LaFollette and "standpat" factions in Wisconsin, the contest between Addicks and the anti-Addicks faction in Delaware, the "lily white" and "black and tan" factions of southern states were disposed of with so much dispatch that the failed to furnish the gossip necessary to an interesting convention.

Dealing in Futures.

There was some dealing in futures in the vice presidential game today. Senator Fairbanks' friends were of the opinion that if he expressed either a desire for the nomination or a disinclination to accept the place such action would be used against him four years hence, if he should be a candidate for the presidency. By pursuing the course of not saying anything, they felt that they had obligated the party to him. Had he been an aspirant for the place they argue that the obligation would be the other way. In fact, the executive committee of the republican congressional committee held at the Chicago Club. It was decided that the congressional campaign should open with a rush as soon as the democratic national convention has passed into history. A Texas, who is 83 years old, is to be the maintenance in the field of half a dozen or so of prominent speakers. In this class Speaker Cannon will head the list.

CABELL WAS LOUDLY CHEERED

General Spoke to the Veterans at the World's Fair.

St. Louis, June 20.—World's Fair Grounds.—The confederate veterans held a reunion at the Missouri building today that revived the enthusiasm and memories of the days before the war. General W. L. Cabell, of Texas, who is 83 years old, made a rousing "Confederate speech," as he termed it. "Old Life" as he was called by his veteran comrades, was cheered to the echo when he concluded his eulogy of the confederate army with "Now, the war is over, we are all citizens loyal and true. Blue and gray together, the whole combined world cannot whip us."

Corteyou Is Summoned.

New York, June 20.—Secretary Corteyou, of the department of commerce and labor, will arrive in Chicago Tuesday night. It is reported he was summoned suddenly to meet the republican leaders. He is going there with the intention of not having been until the national convention was adjourned.

CITY OF SAVANNAH AGEJOUND.

Vessel Strikes in Lower New York Bay.—In No Danger.

New York, June 20.—The steamer City of Savannah, from Savannah for this port, went aground today on Ronger shoal in the lower bay. The vessel is reported to be in no danger and is expected to be floated at the next high tide.

The Wisconsin Fight.

The stalwart faction in the Wisconsin fight are showing alarm tonight at an entirely new development. The stalwarts have spent the day in a vain search for a single member of the credentials committee, who will shoulder the task of making a minority report to the convention in case the majority report favors the "stalwarts." This failure has discouraged the LaFollette faction. It is reported, to the extent of abandoning the contest even before the committee. Should this be done they could go before the voters with the claim of unfair treatment as having been denied a hearing at the hands of the convention.

It will be much more desirable to the "stalwarts" to have the LaFollette grievance thoroughly aired in the convention and then voted down than to have their case settled by default. This phase of the situation is to be made the subject of a conference among the "stalwart" leaders and members of the executive committee of the credentials committee may be found who will volunteer to make a minority report on the case to the convention.

TEACHERS MEET AT WARM SPRINGS

Many Distinguished Educators

Already on the Scene

A Splendid Programme Has Been Begun by the Georgia Pedagogues, and During Session Much Interesting Discussion Is Expected.

Warm Springs, Ga., June 20.—(Special.)

The thirty-eighth annual convention of the Georgia Educational Association opened tonight with an interesting although informal session.

A number of educators arrived this morning, others came in tonight and many more are expected on the early morning trains tomorrow.

Tonight the annual meeting of the board of directors of the association of trustees occurred, this being followed by an informal session. No set programme was carried out tonight, the gathering being largely social in its nature and the pedagogues used the opportunity to get acquainted with one another.

Among the early arrivals who came to attend the convention are N. E. Ware, of Hawkinsville, president of the Georgia Educational Association; L. E. Eames, teacher of science in the State Normal school at Athens; W. M. Slaton, principal of the Boys' High school, in Atlanta; Ira Williams, principal at Temple, Ga.; Miss Emma Wilburn, of Griffin, teacher of the model school at Spaulding; J. Henry Walker, superintendent of the Griffin schools; Miss Mollie White, of Griffin; B. C. Ansted, of Atlanta.

The Griffin schools have a creditable display of their work in the convention hall. It was arranged today by the Griffin delegation of teachers in attendance upon the convention.

S. T. PETERSBURG, June 20.—
The war office expects news of a fight with General Ku-roki. It is thought that General Oku is pursuing General Stakeberg.

JAPANESE TO COMBINE AGAINST KUROPATKIN

St. Petersburg, June 20.—The general staff believes it probable that Generals Kuroki and Oku are meditating a combined attack on General Kuropatkin before he is further reinforced. In order to do this they must act before the rainy season, which is imminent.

The war office points out that it was General Oku, and not General Nohu, who fought Lieutenant General Stake-berg at Vafangow, and that since General Oku recently has been directing the siege operations against Port Arthur, the siege seems to have taken second place in the plans of the Japanese.

There is a rumor in St. Petersburg tonight that a battle at Hai-Cheng is actually proceeding, and that there have been heavy losses on both sides. There is, however, no confirmation of this rumor.

RUSSIA TRIES TO BUY WARSHIPS ON ARGENTINA

St. Petersburg, June 20.—It is now definitely established that negotiations for purchase by Russia of six Argentine cruisers had almost reached a successful conclusion when Argentina raised the question as to under what flag they would be transferred, she being unwilling to sell direct to a belligerent. The medium through which negotiations were conducted, suggested that they be transferred to Venezuela, Costa Rica or Bulgaria, which would turn them over to Russia, but President Roca rejected the proposal, insisting that a bona fide marine power should be the purchaser. Then Turkey began negotiations through the Argentine legation at Paris. The result of these negotiations is not known.

JAPAN TO SEND NEW ARMY TO REDUCE PORT ARTHUR

Washington, June 20.—An explanation of the Japanese campaign on the Liao-tung peninsula, especially with reference to Port Arthur, is contained in an advice that has reached this city from a source believed to be absolutely reliable.
The Japanese tactics which have so puzzled the Russians are intended to isolate Port Arthur, but do not contemplate an attack on the place by General Oku's army. The actual work of reducing Port Arthur will be confided to another Japanese army, under command of General Nogi, which will be landed on the peninsula (and, indeed, may even now be landed) at a point south of General
Oku's position, and considerably nearer Port Arthur.

On June 1, no less than twenty-six transports had been gathered at the Japanese ports to embark this army, and it is probable the vessels attacked by the Vladivostok squadron were of this number.

WISE WORDS.

A Physician on Food.

A physician of Portland, Oregon has views about food. He says:
"I have always believed that the duty of the physician does not cease with treating the sick, but that we owe it to humanity to teach them how to protect their health especially by hygienic and dietetic laws.
"With such a feeling as to my duty I take great pleasure in saying to the public that in my own experience and also from personal observation, I have found no food to equal Grape-Nuts and that I find there is almost no limit to the great benefit this food will bring when used in all cases of sickness and convalescence.
"It is my experience that no physical condition forbids the use of Grape-Nuts.
To persons in health there is nothing so nourishing and acceptable to the stomach, especially at breakfast to start the machinery of the human system on its day's work. In cases of indigestion I know that a complete breakfast can be made of Grape-Nuts and cream and I think it is necessary not to overload the stomach at the morning meal. I also know the great value of Grape-Nuts when the stomach is too weak to digest other food.
"This is written after an experience of more than 20 years treating all manner of chronic and acute diseases, and the letter is written voluntarily on my part without any request for it." Name given

TEN THOUSAND MEN LOST BY RUSSIANS

CZAR TO FIGHT TO BITTER END

Japan Said To Be Willing to Accept Mediation.

But Russia Scouts the Idea—Czar
Will Continue the War Until He Has Made Decisive Victory Over His Island Foes.

St. Petersburg, June 20.—An interview with Baron Suymenau, published in Paris and suggesting that Japan is willing to accept the mediation of a power equally well disposed to Russia and Japan, while regarded as a tentative utterance, attracted much attention, coming from the Marquis's son in law. It is generally interpreted as meaning that Japan is shrinking before the prospect of a long, exhausting war. Government circles do not show the slightest disposition, however,
to relax the officially announced position,
the sentiment being that having been forced into the war and driven to make heavy sacrifices, to stop just now, when Russia is prepared to accomplish something, is quite impossible. Diplomatic circles are keenly interested, but the opinion is unanimously expressed that it is impossible for Russia to consent to end the war with her military prestige impaired.
Besides it is pointed out that Baron Suymenau admits that Japan has not reduced her demands.

The French and British embassies are hardly disposed to believe that Baron Suymenau spoke by authority and the American embassy has declined to discuss the matter except to suggest that a mediator is wanted. The United States fulfills the conditions prescribed by Baron Suymenau.

EATLER HAN SURRENDER

JAPS SANK WITH SHIPS

Vladivostok, June 20.—The whole city is following the operations of the Vladivostok squadron with feverish interest.
It is believed that the Japanese transports sunk in the straits of Korea by the Russian warships were conveying a portion of the fourth army. There was no alternative except to torpedo the Hitachi and Sumi, as their crews refused to surrender. A British courier, captured by the Russians, has been brought to this port. She has on board 6,500 tons of anthracite coal. A prize court has assembled to try her.

NO SERIOUS FIGHTING AROUND PORT ARTHUR

St. Petersburg, June 20.—A dispatch from Lieutenant General Stoessel, commander of the Russian military forces at Port Arthur, dated June 17, just received here, reports that no serious fighting has occurred around Port Arthur. Only a few skirmishes have taken place, the siege operations having not yet begun.

RUSSIANS ADMIT LOSS OF SEVEN THOUSAND MEN

Niuchwang, June 20.—A Russian officer who was wounded in the battle at Vafan-gow (Telissu) told an Associated Press correspondent that the losses on both sides were severe. He placed the Russian casualties at least 7,000. He says no soldiers in the world could withstand the Japanese as they have been fighting lately. Their artillery fire, he claims, is marvelously effective. The Russians fought stubbornly, but were unable to withstand the enemy's dashing persistency. Several hundred wounded Russians have been sent north owing to a lack of hospitals and surgeons. All the available transportation has to be used for supplies at the expense of the sick and wounded. The Japanese buried most of the Russian dead after the battle.
It is estimated on information obtained that the Japanese force moving northward is 70,000 strong with 90,000 in the aggregate engaged in the operations at Port Arthur. Several Japanese spies have recently been captured a few miles south of Niuchwang. The Russians are becoming more vigilant and are watching newspaper messages closely.

CORPSES OF RUSSIANS STILL BEING FOUND

Washington, June 20.—The Japanese legation has received the following cablegram from Tokyo:
"General Oku reports that the Russian corpses which were buried by us near Telissu after the evening of the 17th amounted to 1,516. The corpses are still being discovered and it is believed that the number will be considerably increased. The natives say that during the engagement the Russians carried back by railway a large number of their killed and wounded, while later, when found lacking light, they burned or buried many corpses near Hua-Huang-Kau. The number of the rifles, guns and men captured besides those already reported is increasing, but the total is not yet known."

RUSSIANS ARE DEFEATED IN SKIRMISH WITH JAPS

Tokio, June 20.—Japanese infantry and cavalry patrol which was sent out from Tarkushan on June 18 reports having encountered a force of Russians at Pan-Hing, 36 miles west of Su-Yen, and at other points and the fighting of a series of skirmishes. The Russians had fifty men killed and three men and many arms captured. The Japanese sustained six casualties.

HEAVY FIRING HEARD ALL ALONG THE COAST

Liao-Yang, June 20.—A correspondent of the Associated Press who spent the night at Hai-Chen reports having heard heavy firing to the southward, and believes it to have been either an attack upon Tashichiao or the Japanese fleet again bombarding the coast near Kalping. The firing continued from 10 o'clock at night until 2 in the morning. No explanation of the exact cause of it has yet been obtained.

OVER THOUSAND MEN WERE SLAIN IN ACTION

Japanese Are Still Interfering the Corpses of the Russians—Many of the Russian Dead Cremated—Many Prisoners Taken by Japs.

Tokio, June 20.—Further reports received here show that the blow inflicted by General Oku on the Russians in the fighting at Telissu (Vafangow) on June 15 was more severe than at first believed.
The number of Russians killed in this battle will probably exceed 2,000 and their total loss, including prisoners, is estimated at 10,000. The Japanese losses are less than 1,000 or about one-tenth of the Russian total.

of Bavaria at Munich" upon analyzing the following statement, sworn to before Dr. Pundter, Royal Notary, and verified
by Hon. James H. Worman, U. S. Consul General at Munich, Bavaria:
"Upon subjecting the several beers to a careful analysis I find that the Budweiser Beer, supplied by the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Ass'n, St. Louis, U. S. A., is very similar, in all its characteristics,
to the famous Pilsener beer. It is effervescent, clear and sparkling, has a beautiful creamy foam and is possessed of a pure, wholesome taste and an exquisite hop flavor. Its keeping quality by far exceeds those of the Pilsener beers, resulting from the use of the very best materials in brewing, and the thorough maturity of the product. The analysis further shows that no acids or other preservatives have been used in its production, and as a result of my examination I pronounce 'Budweiser' a well deserved bottled beer of the highest quality."
This acknowledgment, coming as it does from the recognized headquarters of the brewing industry of the old world, must be a great source of gratification and in a measure a compensation to the Anheuser-Busch people for their unceasing efforts to produce the finest beer that can be made.

BELL DENIES THE INTERVIEW

Says Story Was Entirely Without Foundation.

Cripple Creek, Colo., June 20.—In response to a telegram from an eastern newspaper asking for a statement from him as to whether he said that Governor Peabody would soon have to declare the whole of Colorado in a state of rebellion and put the state under martial law, Adjutant General Bell has replied as follows:
"The alleged interview is absolutely without foundation. I not only never gave out such an interview, but the idea is absolutely foreign to my mind under the past and present conditions.
"There is no need of declaring Colorado under martial law.
"The whole state practically has been cleaned up by our deportation system.
There are but few anarchists and socialists left who can cause trouble. However, should it become a military necessity the whole state of Colorado will be placed under martial law and all insurrections dealt with accordingly.
"I do not believe that this will ever be necessary. In my judgment the Colorado troubles are at an end."

Many important matters were discussed, and today has been the busiest one yet.
Many of the delegates are trying to do

Willie Ferrell Is Accused of Robbing
the United States
Mails.

Willie Ferrell, a negro employee of the United States mail service, doing duty at the depot, was arrested at 11 o'clock last night on a charge of robbing the mail. The arrest was made by Postoffice Inspectors Barry and Bannerman, who turned the negro over to Patrolman Mc-Gill and Detective Lockhart.
The arrest was made by means of a decoy letter containing $350. Ferrell claimed after the arrest, when the money was found in his possession, that he had carried the money all day. The inspectors say this is not true, but that he abstracted the coin from a letter that had been given him to mail but a few minutes before.

NO STARVATION AT PORT ARTHUR

Story of Correspondent Who Entered the Fortress.

Hector Fuller Says the Japanese Blockade Is Not Effective, and That Supplies Are Constantly Entering the Place.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 20.—The News has received a special cablegram from Hector Fuller, its special staff war correspondent at Chefoo, giving the following account of his release from Port Arthur and the situation inside the besieged fortress:
"Chefoo, June 20.—After spending five days in a Russian prison, I was released and put on board a Chinese junk and sent to this place.
"The stories of starvation in Port Arthur spread by the Japanese are untrue as stores and supplies are constantly arriving at the besieged city from Chinese ports. The Japanese blockade is ineffective.
"The garrison consists of between fifty and sixty thousand troops, and the health of both soldiers and civilians is good.
"The damaged battle ships have all been repaired and the harbor entrance clear of obstructions. Immense new forts have been constructed, and, in my opinion, the place is in no immediate danger of falling into the hands of the Japanese.
"The Japanese attack by land and sea made on the 18th and 19th was only repulsed. I was the first correspondent to enter Port Arthur since the blockade began."
Mr. Fuller was rowed across to Port Arthur from the Miautau islands by two Chinese men in an open boat, and landing June 13, was seized, blindfolded and thrown into a prison inside the fortress, as was announced at the time by the Associated Press.

SULTAN ROUGH TO AMERICANS

Citizens of United States Hard Pressed in Turkey.

Privileges Are Denied Them Which
Are Permitted to Subjects of European Powers—United States Seeks To Ameliorate Conditions.

Washington, June 20.—Minister Leish-mann has encountered a singular and disagreeable reluctance on the part of the porte to enter on negotiations looking to the removal of discrimination against American citizens, professional and business men, in Turkey. The citizens of European powers are permitted all sorts of privileges that are denied to American citizens and for three or four years past our state department, through the minister, has striven vainly to remove this discrimination.
A characteristic Turkish method of blocking attempts is a declaration to accede to the request of the state department that the Turkish mission in Washington be elevated to the rank of an ambassy so that Minister Leishmann, at Constantinople, might attain a similar rank and thus be able personally to approach the sultan. Being kept in his grade as a minister he is prevented from reaching that personage and finds it almost impossible to do business through the porte.
The state department is determined this discrimination shall cease, although it hopes it will not be necessary for the battle ship squadron combined with the European squadron to repair to Turkish waters.

APPLICATIONS FOR PROMOTION.

Washington, June 20.—Acting Postmaster General Wynne was kept busy today signing notices to postmasters of presidential offices throughout the country regarding the promotion of clerks in their offices. In each case the notice bore the announcement that "the promotions given are all that can be allowed under the appropriation act as passed by the last congress." The promotions allowed average about one to every three clerks.

Basin to Fill IN THREE DAYS

Chattahoochee River Not Noticeably Affected by Dam.

Gainesville, Ga., June 20.—(Special.)—
The basin above the dam of the North Georgia Electric Company on the Chattahochee river will, at the present rate, fill up in three days more. The water is now within 10 feet of the top, having risen 28 feet since Friday last. The leakage in the dam, together with the occasional opening of the flood gates makes no noticeable change in the river below the dam, so that it is hardly possible that the mills or navigation at and below Columbus will be affected.

CORPSES ARE BROUGHT FROM RIVER BOTTOM

Divers Are Searching for Victims of the General Slocum Holocaust.

SEARCHING INQUEST BEGUN BY CORONER

One of the Principal Owners of the Ill-fated Vessel Testifies as to Her Condition—He Couldn't Explain.

HE KILLED HIMSELF

NEW YORK, June 20.—A resident of Jersey City, named Workman, who lost two daughters and a son in the Slocum disaster, returned home last night after having visited the scene of the wreck and after attending memorial services during the day, he blew his brains out with a revolver.

New York, June 20.—All along the East river from North Brother Island down to what are known as the sunken meadows search was made today for bodies of unfortunates who lost their lives in the disaster to the excursion steamer, General Slocum, last Wednesday. Although more than 630 bodies had been recovered last night, the reports from the first few minutes of work today added five more to the total. These were found at widely separated points, and the searchers were of the opinion that before the day ended the list of missing would be considerable. They believe that the big steamers and other craft will so stir up the water as to cause the bodies lying along the bed of the river to rise to the surface. Divers at work on the wreck of the Slocum today encountered new difficulties. They were at work about the hull of the sunken steamer when they found that instead of the hull resting in mud, as they thought, it rested on rocks which were never known to exist. This they say will delay work.

More Bodies Recovered.

Several more bodies were recovered during the forenoon, some of them in the vicinity of the wreck of the Slocum.

Four divers were at work near North Brother Island today searching for bodies. A diver reports that at a depth of 95 feet he has discovered a large hollow in which he says there are a great many bodies.

More than 200 witnesses had been summoned to appear at the inquest. It also was planned to have present an assistant district attorney and a stenographer with instructions from the department of justice to take down all the testimony offered. As fast as the notes transcribed the evidence will be examined by United States District Attorney Burnett, who will in turn forward the evidence, together with his opinion thereon, to the department.

"If the evidence warrants it," said General Burnett today, "I shall not wait until the end of the inquest before moving in the matter. If the evidence is strong enough the federal grand jury will be considering certain phases of the cases long before the inquest has closed."

In addition to the interest which the department of justice was taking in the inquest, H. K. Smith, the legal representative of Secretary Cortelyou, of the department of commerce and labor, was under instructions to keep that department thoroughly advised as the inquest progresses.

Rotten Life Preservers.

It was expected that striking facts would be adduced at the inquest for in addition to the proof that the life preservers were rotten, that the life boats were not worked, and that the life rafts were so fastened to the decks that they could not be moved, Coroner Berry was said to have evidence that many of the ring preservers were so heavy that they sank like lead.

Two bodies were found on the bottom of the river with these ring preservers around them. Another charge which the coroner was to investigate was one to the effect that a portion of the guard rail to which four bodies were found clinging when it was raised from the bottom of the river yesterday was rotten and worn away.

The coroner's jury was quickly secured. President Barnaby, of the Knickerbocker Steamboat Company, owner of the General Slocum, was the first witness and from him it was learned that the actual operation of the Slocum was under Captain Van Schaick, who received his instructions from Captain Pease. On application of the latter, he said, an inspection of the Slocum was made by the United States authorities before she was put in commission this year, adding:

"It was reported to us that the Slocum was in thorough good working condition."

He had not personally inspected the boat, but said he had examined the reports of the company's inspection and of that by the United States inspection officers.

The certificate of United States inspection was placed in evidence. It certified that on May 7, 1904, the General Slocum was in good condition, to carry 2,500

ALL HIS FAMILY

LOST ON SLOCUM

NEW YORK, June 20.—A blow fell on Albert Kraal, an Ivory and pearl inlayer, when he reached his home at Middle Village, L. I., today and learned that his entire family, including his wife and two children, had gone on the Slocum excursion and had been lost. Kraal had been at work at his trade at Newport, R. I., and had not known until his return home today that his family went on the ill-fated excursion.

HE COULDN'T EXPLAIN.

The bills for life preservers, presented by Mr. Barnaby, which were dated in different months in 1902, 1903 and 1904, proved to have originally borne the name Grand Republic. This name had been scratched out and the name General Slocum substituted. When this fact was called to Mr. Barnaby's attention he was unable to explain why anything of this kind had been done. The books of the company, however, would show what supplies went to the Slocum and what to the Grand Republic.

Asked if the ledgers would not show how many life preservers were bought for the Slocum since she was built in 1891, Mr. Barnaby said he was not sure that all the ledgers could be found. Mr. Barnaby said that he had instructed Captain Pease at the opening of the season to put the Slocum "in first-class condition and to spare no expense. We spent $12,000 on the repairs suggested."

He said the company estimated the boat to be worth $155,000 and carried $70,000 insurance on her. Asked if the boat was considered a good risk, he replied:

"We paid the lowest possible premium."

Never Instructed in Fire Drill.

According to the testimony of John J. Cooley, one of the Slocum's deck hands at the coroner's inquest, he had never been instructed in a fire drill since he became an employee of the Knickerbocker company at the beginning of last season. Cooley said he first learned that the steamer was on fire when a small boy called his attention to smoke rolling down from the bow. Cooley said he ran up toward the bow of the steamer, and found a blaze in the locker, where the oil lamps were kept. He dumped charcoal on it, hoping to smother the flames, then he let down the hose and called for assistance. The fire was so hot that he and those who came to help him were driven out of the locker, but they got the hose in position and had just directed a stream on the fire when the hose burst.

It was impossible to reach any of the life rafts, because of the panic, but one of the life boats was lowered. The others were so surrounded by struggling persons that the crew could not get at them. The boat which they succeeded in clearing and which was filled with women and children, capsized while it was being lowered from the davit.

Several men corroborated Cooley's story in most of the details, but none of them knew of a life boat being lowered. One of the men, James Corcoran, described the solid rubber washer attached to the stand pipe to prevent water dripping into the hose and rolling it. To get this washer off, so that the hose could be used, it would have been necessary to disconnect the hose from the stand pipe. Corcoran did not see this done.

Edward Flanagan, the mate of the last two seasons on the Slocum, who listed the deck crew of that boat, said that the forward cabin where the fire broke out, was used for storing old lines and worn out awnings and brooms. He had one barrel of sperm oil there, and there were some empty barrels that had contained oil.

"Were there any arrangements to turn steam into the lower deck?"

"Not to my knowledge."

Flanagan denied any knowledge of the "false" which blocked the fire hose. He said he manned the water pipes as soon as possible, but when the water pressure came there burst. Flanagan gave testimony as to the visits of the inspectors, and said they condemned some of the life preservers.

The inquest was adjourned until tomorrow.

THEATERS.

The Casino.

The production of Sherlock Holmes in "The Sign of the Four" presented at the Casino last night, furnished what the big audience must have felt to be the most attractive and entertaining bill offered this season at the popular little playhouse. Many there were in the audience who recalled the performance of "The Sign of the Four" at the Bijou during the winter season, but it must be admitted that in many respects the present company is a more capable one than that first presented here by Mr. Walter Edwards.

In the leading character Mr. Edwards himself showed an improvement that was pleasing to his Atlanta friends. He has acquired that masterly manner in presenting the part which brought fame to Gillette and in a lesser degree to Herbert Kelsey. It matters little that the production in hand calls for a love scene between the enigmatical Holmes and the lady of the diamonds. Admirers of Dr. Conan Doyle's great character have grown used to this interpolation of stage craft for it is found in every production of the Holmes character that has appeared to theatergoers generally.

The audience last night filled the house to its capacity and the bill promises to be one of the most popular given this season. Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week David Garrick will be submitted in place of Sherlock Holmes and Mr. Edwards' appearance in this character will be awaited with interest.

Sugar Worries Great Britain.

London, June 20.—Earl Percy, under foreign secretary, replying to a question in the house of commons today, said that representations had been made to the United States regarding the disadvantage under which West Indian sugars labored in the markets of the United States as compared with Cuban sugars but no reply had been received, indicating a prospect of any arrangement more favorable to British trade.

GAYNOR BEATS UNITED STATES

Fugitive and "Pal" Won't Pay Forfeited Bond.

Injunction Issued by Federal Judge Preventing the Collection of $40,000 From W. B. Kirk, of Syracuse, Who Signed the Bond.

Buffalo, N. Y., June 20.—Judge Havel, in the United States court, today handed down a decision in the suit of William B. Kirk, ex-mayor of Syracuse, against the United States government and C. D. McDougall, as United States marshal for the northern district of New York, for an injunction to restrain the United States from seizing the property of the complainant pursuant to an execution in favor of the United States.

On January 1, 1902, Kirk became surety in New York on the $40,000 bond of John F. Gaynor, of Gaynor & Green, contractors, who were arrested on an indictment of the grand jury of Georgia.

Gaynor's bond was estimated and a judgment was entered against Kirk for the amount of the bond. The marshal seized the property of Kirk, who brought the action for a restraining injunction. Kirk claimed the property could not be seized as he was not under the jurisdiction of the Georgia court and had no property in that state.

Judge Havel concluded the complaint against the United States must be dismissed with costs. He says the threatened seizure of the property of the complainant by the defendant, McDougall, must be enjoined and judgment is awarded in favor of the complainant.

The complaint against the government is dismissed on the ground that an individual may not sue the government without permission by special act of congress.

There is nothing in the will which indicates the total value of Mr. Leiter's estate.

CADETS OF SOUTH CAROLINA

Give an Exhibition Drill at St. Louis Fair.

St. Louis, World's Fair Grounds, June 20.—Ohio was best represented at the fair today, there being about 2,000 members of the uniform rank, Knights of Pythias, from that state on the grounds. The knights gave an exhibition guard mount in the administration quadrangle and a parade on the plaza of St. Louis, both attracting large crowds of spectators. Military exhibitions were also given by the South Carolina cadets and the Philippine scouts.

R. B. Armstrong, assistant secretary of the treasury, paid a visit to the fair on the subject of the republican convention at Chicago. While here he made arrangements for an increase in the number of government appraisers for fixing the value for customs purposes upon foreign goods brought here for the exhibit and sold to fair visitors. So many exhibits have been sold that the present board of appraisers is insufficient to do the work. About 200 members of the Florida Press Association with their ladies are visiting the fair this week.

DEVOID OF ANY FOUNDATION.

Cardinal Gibbons on Alleged Interviews with Him.

Baltimore, June 20.—In view of the contradictory statements that have been published as to the attitude of Cardinal Gibbons and the American archbishops in the matter of "opus plus" recent letter on the subject of church music, restoring the Gregorian chant, the cardinal today made the following statement to the Associated Press.

"The cardinal, in the name of all the archbishops of the country, and in his own name, immediately after their annual meeting in Washington last April, wrote to the holy father, promising to carry out as far as practicable the judicial and practical letter of the pope on the subject of sacred music."

"Today the cardinal received a reply from the holy father in which his holiness warmly commends and appreciates the letter of his eminence and the archbishops."

"The cardinal takes this occasion to say that the alleged interviews and the observations ascribed to him touching the holy father's letter on sacred music, are devoid of foundation."

The Blue Tag Trade Sale of Furniture.

This great movement will achieve fresh success this week. Prudent people here and from a distance are being aroused to the economic possibilities of the occasion.

The sale represents an acute business anomaly. Just at a time when labor, Furniture woods and hardware are bringing their highest we organize for the purpose of selling stylish, reliable and desirable articles for the home at prices that stand for phenomenal money saving.

Nearly the whole stock is involved. We haven't chosen a few meagre lines to justify sensational advertising. The most useful, the most beautiful and the most wanted things in the whole stock have had the bargain emblem attached to them. Blue Tags dominate. Blue Tags abound. Blue Tags are redundant. Blue Tags control. And every Blue Tag you find fluttering to a piece of Furniture signifies a decisive, a radical reduction.

Details are not urgent and they are irksome. Therefore they are omitted. The following are conspicuously Blue Tagged:

The solons are coming.

The Pelicans look strong—and they are strong.

Teddy will nominate himself. Let's see him elect himself.

Does anybody know what has become of the Hon. Billy Mason?

Teddy will not be able to work his badger game on the Badger State.

The Vladivostok squadron seems to have the Kishineff idea of war.

The administration should be addressed at Chicago at the present writing.

The Chicago detectives deny that Tascott died in Alaska. There is a way they can prove it.

"I can not marry you," protests Uncle Joe. "Who axed him," says Teddy, "I'd like to know."

Now note how easily the Chicago platform establishes a parity between standardism and reciprocity.

Will the republican platform advocate a ship subsidy? It would do so were Hanna still alive.

No feverish anxiety is being evinced in the outcome of the cut and dried elephant show at Chicago.

The American navy will endeavor to impress the sultan of Turkey several hundred thousand dollars worth.

If Web Davis visits the world's fair he'll be careful to pass the Boer side-show on the other side of the pike.

The move to protect Georgia from the boll weevil by act of the state legislature is decidedly "a stitch in time."

Cannon is too big a gun for Teddy to allow him to make a painful study in contrast as a vice presidential candidate.

It is a shame for Chicago to take the money of the delegates to the republican national convention for three days.

There is really little inducement to keep open the gambling clubs in New York since Reggie Vanderbilt went on the scout.

The Chicago platform should point with pride to the presidential conviction of poor old General Tycner by message to congress.

Since the burning of the General Slocum, New York is demanding more fire excursion boats. This is the practical step for reform to take.

Demand for Ballot Reform.

The movement in favor of ballot reform is general throughout Georgia, and county after county are registering their protests against lax primaries and demanding the Australian system at the primary election.

At the recent mass meeting of the Muscogee county democrats, held in Columbus for the purpose of electing a county executive committee to serve for the next two years, a strong resolution was introduced by Captain Price Gilbert, solicitor general of the circuit, demanding a secret primary ballot by state legislation and requesting the senator from that district and the representatives from that county to support such a measure with their influence and votes. Pending the adoption by the state of an improved ballot system, the resolution in question empowers and instructs the democratic executive committee of Muscogee county to adopt a secret ballot for all primary elections held in the county, the details being left to the discretion of the committee.

This excellent resolution was passed as representing the views of the Muscogee democracy on this the liveliest local issue confronting the party in Georgia today, and the example is calculated to have a general following over the state. Captain Gilbert introduced the first Australian ballot bill in the Georgia general assembly while a member of that body from Muscogee county fourteen years ago, and has ever since been a persistent and forceful advocate of the reform.

Fulton county is the pioneer of the practical application of the Australian voting system to Georgia politics, and here the system has been found to be all that is claimed for it. Our elections are remarkably orderly, removed from undue influences, and to a free ballot is added a fair count. We are sure every county in Georgia would have been incalculably benefited had they seen fit to adopt the Australian system as Fulton did, and it is certain state politics would not today be scandalized by election "irregularities" had such a wise course been taken. The secret primary ballot does away with all charges and countercharges of fraud by contending candidates.

The general assembly which convenes in Atlanta this week will be unanimously petitioned to pass a ballot reform bill which embraces the primary as well as the regular election. The people demand the reform, and the fair name of our state will be satisfied with nothing less. We have had enough of post-primary cries of corruption, particularly when the present lax voting methods do not scruple to drag the judicial ermine in the mire.

The hour has come to inaugurate a salutary change, and friends of the new order should lose no time in endeavoring every influence at their command to advance the proposed reform legislation.

A Faithful Congressional Servant.

Not his constituents alone, but all the people of Georgia, have reason to congratulate themselves over the action of the Warm Springs convention in selecting Hon. W. C. Adamson to succeed himself in representing the fourth congressional district at Washington.

This is Congressman Adamson's fifth nomination for the office and insures him ten years of continuous service in the lower branch of our national legislature, where he has won a distinguished record. He is not only a strong figure among the Georgia delegation, which is notable for strong figures, but he has demonstrated the possession of statesmanship of a truly national character, and his services to his party have been national in character also.

Colonel Adamson is a faithful worker in the routine of a congressional servant of the public, and he is a gentleman of brilliant qualities on the floor as well. He is a thinker and a worker, and when he raises his voice in behalf of a cause he commands attention and a following. It would be hard to replace him in the fourth district.

The action of the Warm Springs district convention will meet with enthusiastic approval throughout Georgia and the entire south.

Suppressing the End Seat Hog.

The interminable war between the proper portion of the public and the individual who appropriates the outside seat in the open trolley and refuses to move up a peg to the next comer, goes merrily on, and no city is too big or too obscure to add its contribution to the wordy carnage. Even New York, just emerged from the primitiveness of the horse car, is in the throes of the absorbing discussion.

Judging by the example of San Antonio, Tex., where they do things without an undue amount of "rag-chewing," the solution of the moot problem is easy. "San Tone," through her common council, has decreed that the "end seat hog" must move along or pay a fine of not less than $5 nor more than $25 for each porcine offense.

The San Antonio ordinance provides that a passenger occupying the end seat when another passenger is about to enter must move up a peg for him or her, and keep on moving toward the other side of the seat until its seating capacity is taken. By this process he can gain another end seat—the rail end—which will answer all practical purposes if his hogghishness is caused by a tobacco chewer's inclination to choose a convenient point for expectation without the necessity of removing his quid.

This is simple enough and ought to be practical enough. A law of the kind would not have to be long in force to break the "end seat hog" of his widely condemned habit.

As to Reciprocity.

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, everywhere recognized as inspired spokesman for President Roosevelt, declared upon the floor of the recent republican state convention in Massachusetts that to talk for reciprocity was "an insult to the president." It was only because the senator, who is the recognized head of the republican organization in his state, made his appeal on this line that the movement toward reciprocity, which has made so great headway among the business men of New England, failed to find endorsement in the Massachusetts platform.

But the demand for reciprocity, particularly with Canada, still agitates the business interests of New England. It will not go down. Instead of being silenced by the action of the republican convention, it keeps growing. The great independent newspapers of Boston and some of those which are usually held-bound in their support of whatever the republican leaders may dictate, are keeping up the agitation. They contend that a sensible reciprocity treaty with Canada which will give the New England manufacturers some showing in the markets of the dominion is vital to the business interests of Boston and the section of which it is the commercial metropolis. Their natural territory does not extend south of Connecticut, for they soon meet the competition of New York. On the east there is the Atlantic, and unless they are given some sort of chance at the dominion, they have absolutely no opportunity to expand.

The probability of their getting any sort of comfort out of the platform to be adopted at Chicago is remote, indeed. The same influences will formulate the republican national platform as have kept buried in the senate pig-holes every reciprocity treaty negotiated in accordance with the policy of President McKinley and the terms of the Dingley tariff bill itself. President Roosevelt might have exerted powerful influence toward bringing out those treaties, and forcing the republicans of the senate to support them, but what can be hoped from a president who holds that the mere mention of reciprocity by republicans is an "insult" to him?

Naturally, the tariff declaration of the democratic national platform will greatly interest those business men of New England, as it will all far-seeing business men who know that there is but one way to secure for the merchants and manufacturers of this country a fair showing at the markets of the world, and that is on the basis of fair exchange. The democratic attitude will be in keeping with this clear and clean-cut expression in the Mississippi platform:

The democracy of Mississippi favors the restoration, as far as possible, under existing conditions, of the historic and ever-existing party of America—the foreign policy raised sacred to the American people by the memory of the precepts and practices of George Washington as president of these United States, when advised and counseled by Thomas Jefferson, as his secretary of state, to "friendly relations with all nations and entangling alliances with none." With this end in view, the democracy of Mississippi, as far as we can, broader and more profitable foreign and home markets for our agricultural, mining, manufacturing and forest productions.

We ought especially as democrats, having the interests of the entire people in view, in contradistinction to the policy of the republican party, which has made no sincere effort in that direction, to secure more friendly and mutual trade relations with the Dominion of Canada and with our children, who, driven by taxation at home, and induced by fertile lands and liberal laws there, are daily flocking to her fields. It is as absurd to have a high protective tariff wall between the American state of Washington and the province of British Columbia, as it would be to have one between the state of Vermont and New Hampshire, insofar, at least, as mere commercial and industrial results are concerned.

That, in a nutshell, is the democratic position. It will receive sincere and hearty endorsement at the hands of the business men of New England, as it will at the hands of the similar interests in Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin, the Dakotas and Washington, to whom the question of Canadian reciprocity comes home directly, touching as it does the pocket nerve.

But will the New Englanders and their fellows have the strength to break away from the traditions which have bound them since abolition days, or will they continue to vote the republican ticket even when that action involves industrial har-kari on their part?

They will be given the opportunity of deciding for themselves.

Rice at the South.

Some interesting facts about rice irrigation in the southern states are included in a bulletin recently issued by the bureau of the census. This has to deal particularly with Georgia and the Carolinas, the other sections where rice is raised being treated separately.

Some idea of the extent of the irrigation systems in the territory treated for 1902, which show that in Georgia, North Carolina and South Carolina there was an irrigated acreage of 50,223, the initial cost of the irrigation systems being $1,730,999. These figures show an increase in irrigated acreage over 1899, the year taken for comparison, of 23 per cent, and an increase in construction cost of the irrigating systems of approximately 43 per cent.

The irrigation of rice lands has, it seems, been practiced in the coastal counties of Georgia and the Carolinas since 1790. The irrigation is confined to the delta or overflowed lands in the lower reaches of the tidal streams, the rice fields being protected from overflow by levees or dikes thrown up parallel to the river. These as a rule are constructed of alluvial soil and are approximately 25 feet thick at the base and 10 feet in height. The method of irrigation is described by the census experts in this way:

The fields are divided into sections by check banks, each section containing from 5 to 30 acres, and subdivided by small ditches into beds. Irrigation is performed during high tide, the fresh water being admitted to the fields through a wooden trunk or box set in the dike. By opening a door in the trunk on the side next to the stream the water is admitted, and passing along the ditches, floods the fields to the required depth. As the tide falls, the pressure of the water closes an inner gate in the trunk and the water is thus held upon the fields as long as it is required.

When it is desired to drain the fields, the gates are opened at low tide and the water quickly flows back into the river. While this method of irrigation is simple, the initial expense of preparing a plantation is very great and the cost of planting, cultivating and harvesting is considerably higher than in Louisiana and Texas. Owing to the moist character of the soil the use of heavy machinery is impossible and the labor must be performed largely by hand. The coastal planter requires a large force of laborers to plant and harvest his crop, and his returns are no greater than those of his more favored brother in the southwest, whose fields are prepared and harvested by the most improved labor-saving machinery. It is owing to these factors that rice irrigation has not made more rapid progress in the coastal counties.

During recent years the uncertainty of the principal streams has greatly increased the labors and expenses of the planters. These streams once drained heavy forested slopes and were fairly regular in their flow, but now that the forests have been destroyed, floods often come without warning and sweep away the strongest dikes, causing not only total loss of crop, but oftentimes great injury to the fields. Seven counties in Georgia, nine in South Carolina and three in North Carolina embrace the rice lands of these states cultivated by scientific systems of irrigation.

WITH THE STATE PRESS.

BY SARGE PLUNKETT.

The Moultrie Observer discloses a movement to benefit that section through a "large assembly" soon to assemble which gives promise of great good being accomplished. In the varied good features of its current issue The Observer honors itself by its appeal for a Fourth of July celebration, while its tribute to Judge Turner was as warm as his most ardent admirers could ask.

The Camilla Enterprise complains of corn fields and cotton patches in the town. The Enterprise would have these fields turned into nice town residences, and in this connection well says that the place "can't be country and town at the same time."

The Alpharetta Free Press certainly intends to be understood as being for Tom Bell and, also, as against "Independents."

The Jefferson County Banner very pertinently inquires: "How do you like our Home-Cheese Column?" Very much, brethren, very much.

The Gibson Record makes the statement that it has been over two years since there was a sheriff's sale in that county. A volume wasted in words could not have stated more clearly the prosperous condition of a county.

The Toccoa Record devotes its leading editorial to an appeal for a "Toccoa spirit" that would push the town, that every gender of the bright paper should appreciate and feel proud of. The Record also gains esteem for its manner of replying to the correspondent that thoughtlessly twists it for not being as great as The Weekly Constitution. It is well done.

The Nashville Herald, of Nashville, Ga., treats its readers to a fine picture of a new $5,000 school house the town has just started to build. Such pictures speak louder than words of the character of a community.

The Southeast Georgian, of Camden county, has begun the agitation of a full display of the county's products at the fairs of next fall. This is a good way to advertise the county's resources and it is a good county paper that has an eye to that end.

But for the News-Banner we should have never known that Baxley is the prosperous town that it is. The town will issue bonds for school purposes and the Banner predicts that the place will soon be voted in the front rank.

The Rochelle New Era firmly and gracefully takes a stand against a desecration of the Sabbath, and in this the paper will not be alone anywhere in Georgia.

The Carverville Advance would have good roads in its near future. Good roads means much on the prosperity side of a county.

The Glascock Banner, of Mitchell, Ga., is rejoicing that conditions in that section are calling men back to the farms there. The invitation is backed by the assurance that all who return to these farms will receive better pay, better houses and a healthier environment than ever before.

MULHALL HANDY WITH GUN.

He Shot Three Men on the Pike at St. Louis.

St. Louis, June 20.—(Special.) Mulhall, live stock agent of the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad, was shot three times Saturday night on the Pike in the world's fair grounds, is still in jail awaiting development in the condition of the wounded. The police refuse to accept bail for his release.

Morgan, the most critically wounded of the three men, is in the emergency hospital at the world's fair.

John Murphy, the cowboy shot by Mulhall, is recovering, and Frank Reid, the attaché of the West, who, with Mulhall, was fighting, has been taken to the city hospital. No serious outcome of his injuries is expected.

CONFERENCE OF CHARITIES.

Annual Convention Is in Session at Portland, Me.

Portland, Me., June 20.—The national conference of charities and correction opened with a general session today under charge of the standing committee on state supervision and administration. The state's responsibility in the field of charities and correction was brought out by the report of the committee, of which Michael J. Scanlon, of New York, is chairman.

"Limits of State Control and Supervision of Charities" was the topic of a paper by Rev. A. W. Clark, of Omaha, Neb., which supported the centralized management of public institutions and the close supervision of private charities.

And So It Goes

There are local dealers who are now spending six thousand dollars a year advertising in The Daily Constitution that a few years ago limited their appropriations to five or six hundred dollars.

Big increase? Yes, big increase—but the greater volume of business coming to them amply justifies the additional expenditure.

If you are a five hundreder why not wake up and get into the six thousander class? It's not a difficult rise to take after you comprehend the stimulating influence of Daily Constitution advertisements.

THE PASSING THROUG.

"Not a very long while ago," remarked a well-known preacher to a party of friends at his home Sunday afternoon, "I was importuned by a young couple to marry them in the dome of the capitol. For three weeks before the day set for the wedding they pleaded with me to meet the bridal party in the capitol dome and there perform the marriage ceremony. I did not particularly object to the place, nor did I discountenance the romance that promoted the petition, but what I did not relish was the idea of a minister climbing up that long flight of stairs and then climbing down again. I knew I would be criticised for doing a thing that was so undignified, and so I refused to grant the request. The couple married, and I performed the ceremony, but the scene was so ridiculous that I never again went to a wedding where the bride and groom were not up in the air and under the statue of the Goddess of Liberty."

The hotel registers and especially that of the Kimball house showed yesterday that the legislature was about to meet in the city. There were several familiar names which are always seen on the registers at the leading hotels when the state solons gather or when there is some political battle to be fought. Not only are a number of the members of the legislature on the books, but also the names of several prominent state politicians.

Three Chicago drummers were on a trolley car going to Grant park yesterday afternoon. As the car left the city it made the usual number of stops to let passengers disembark, and among these passengers were several ladies. Each time that the conductor rang the bell for the car to stop and a lady had to alight she never arose from her seat until the car had come to a dead standstill, and then stood up and walked complacently and very slowly to the rear of the car.

One of the Chicago drummers asked the conductor: "Don't you lose a lot of time by passengers getting off in that manner?" "We certainly do," the conductor answered, "but we can't help it." "The ladies," the conductor went on to live a while in Chicago," continued the drummer, "up there a lady arises as soon as the conductor rings the bell, and she begins to walk to the rear of the car as it slows up. When the car stops she is on the rear platform and ready to step off. The cars in Chicago never stop but a few seconds to let passengers disembark."

A notable party passed through the city Sunday, stopping at the Aragon hotel, to take a look at Atlanta, and then went on to Tallahassee, Fla., where they will remain for several weeks. The party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. McDonald and children, of Miami, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Garthside, of Miami, and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Reddy and children, of Miami. Mr. McDonald was considerably lame in his right leg, and the building of the noted hotels owned by Flagler. All of the hotels which Flagler owned were the finest in the south, and the construction of them was left entirely to Mr. McDonald. The party are all distinguished Floridians.

Major Joseph B. Cumming, one of the most prominent lawyers of Augusta, is stopping at the Piedmont.

Among the arrivals at the Kimball yesterday was Colonel R. L. Bernef, of Forsyth.

Hon. Jesse W. Walters, one of the leading members of Albany's bar, is in the city stopping at the Kimball.

Hon. Clarence Wilson, of Fort Gaines, has reached the city among the advance guard of the legislature, and has rooms at the Kimball.

"Atlanta is often the objective point of people who live far away from Georgia," remarked the Aragon clerk yesterday as he pointed to the names of Richard Cochrane, of South Australia, and Basil DeGlehard, of Paris. "These gentlemen," he concluded, "left Australia and France and came direct to Atlanta. They are both professional men and are traveling for recreation and pleasure."

A party of Atlantans were standing in the Kimball platform yesterday discussing gas bills, and one of them remarked that he thought his gas bill was too large. Thereupon Colonel Ed Calloway looked up from his books and said: "Gentlemen, from a historical standpoint, you are not right. It is right to complain of the charge of the Light Brigade."

An old member of the fire department was talking about some of the big fires he had fought in his day, and he remarked: "But the most interesting fire in Atlanta was the one that you want to see. A lot of excited people you just ought to get into the midst of a small conflagration in Darktown at night. The negroes begin to empty houses of their contents for blocks around. That is fun enough, but the real fun commences when they try to get their goods back into their houses, for it is a sort of grab game, everybody taking everything they can get hold of. I'll bet that after a fire in Darktown there isn't a house in the neighborhood of the blaze that was not furnished like it was before the fire."

The Nashville Banner pays the following high compliment to General A. J. West, Atlanta's well-known capitalist and Confederate veteran: "The speech of General A. J. West, of Atlanta, placing General S. D. Lee in nomination for commander in chief, is regarded as one of the finest short addresses of the whole convention. General West made a splendid impression during his stay in the city, and before leaving the city for his home last night he spoke in the highest terms of the eminent success of the reunion. He said he had heard many expressions of surprise and commendation and praise."

BOY WAS DRUNK WHEN MARRIED

So Declared Mrs. Black of Her Son Dell.

When Mrs. Mollie Black's 20-year-old son ran away Saturday night and married Miss Carrie Pope, a 14-year-old girl, the mother was angry, and is said to have threatened to kill the minister who married the couple, and also to kill or poison E. W. Carlan, who loaned Dell Black the money with which to procure a license.

Rev. C. J. Ballou, a Baptist minister, of 111 Reinhardt street, caused the arrest of Mrs. Black yesterday morning on a charge of disorderly conduct. The case was made by Bicycle Officer Gower.

In police court Rev. Ballou testified that Mrs. Black had cursed and threatened him and had created a general row in the community in which he resides. He said he had married Dell Black and Carrie Pope, as they had a license that had been legally issued by the ordinary.

E. W. Carlan, of 67 Carroll street, said Mrs. Black met him on the street and threatened to kill him. He laughed at her and told her to run along and keep quiet.

GEORGIA BUILDING WILL BE OPENED AT WORLD'S FAIR IN ST. LOUIS TODAY

Facsimile of "Sutherland," Georgia State Building at St. Louis, Which Will Be Formally Opened Today.

By H. W. Grady.

Georgia State Building, World's Fair Grounds, St. Louis, Mo., June 20.—(Special.)—When the Georgia building at the world's fair in this city is thrown open Tuesday afternoon every true Georgian may well feel proud of the splendid manner in which our state is represented. I have made a close study of all the state buildings and exhibits, attended many of the formal openings, and Georgia is making a showing that is not surpassed by any of her sister states. Standing side by side with states that appropriated out of their treasuries all the way from $100,000 to $1,000,000 for their buildings and exhibits, the display that our commissioners have made with the meagre funds at their command is nothing short of marvelous.

Georgia deserves special credit for her building, for it stands as an example of the energy and progressiveness of her people. Unlike any other state at the fair, and they are all here except Kansas, the people of Georgia went down into their individual pockets and subscribed the money that enabled Georgia to take a stand with the other states.

Has Splendid Location.

The location of the Georgia building is one of the most excellent ones on the grounds. In the Plateau of States, the Georgia building is on the very highest point in the entire grounds.

The Virginia building is on one side, and facing that building is the Tennessee building. Directly in front of Georgia is the home of Idaho and the beautiful Temple of Fraternity, while just down the hill stands the handsome Illinois building and California's home.

The Georgia building itself is a replica of the Gordon home in DeKalb county, and its simple architecture forms a pleasing and striking contrast to some of the gaudy structures that surround it. Directly in the center of the main walk leads up to the Georgia porch there stands a magnificent oak tree, whose great branches seem to wave a welcome to the thousands of visitors from all over the world who pass by daily.

The beautiful lawn in front has a truly southern aspect, and the native Georgia shrubs planted here and there give it a truly homelike appearance. In fact, the whole place is typically southern and homelike.

Native Wood Used.

On entering the house you are at once in a great wide hall that runs the entire length of the building, the woodwork—and every one stops to admire it—is the native Georgia pine, and I have never seen more beautiful specimens.

The great beams across the ceiling in con- trast to the rich red walls show their beautiful wood off in the most striking manner. All of the wood in the building was furnished by the Georgia Saw Mill Association through the efforts of Captain H. H. Tift, of Tifton.

The first spacious room on the right after entering is the gentlemen's parlor, or reception room. Back of this room is the gentlemen's writing and smoking room. This room contains a number of beautiful desks and chairs, which were furnished, as were the ones in the ladies' writing room, by the Marietta Chair Company and the Brumby Chair Company, of Marietta.

In this room there is everything for the convenience of those who wish to write a letter, read or lounge about and take a smoke. Back of this room is a large pantry, from which the serving will be done when receptions are held. On the opposite side of the great hall the rooms are the same for the ladies. The first room, a large parlor, and back of that a writing and reading room. The last room is most attractive, being fitted up with comfortable lounges and easy chairs, where those who become fatigued may lie down for a while and rest. The second story is devoted to private rooms and bedrooms. The beds were furnished by P. D. Baker, of Atlanta. In fact one of the features lies in the fact that it is not only a Georgia building in name, but all of the many things which go to make it so attractive really came from Georgia.

The great hall on the first floor is where the register will be kept and in this place the various gatherings will take place.

A Typical Reception.

The formal opening of the building, which takes place Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, will be in the nature of an informal reception. It will be a typical Georgia reception at which those who have been invited will be given an example of what a genuine southern reception should be. Our commissioners have acted most wisely in not following the lead of some of the states and giving an entertainment which will be more of a bore than a pleasure and there will be none of the speech making which has become such a bore to the fair-going public. All of the Georgia ladies in St. Louis will assist the commissioners in entertaining the guests. Those who will be present in that capacity will be Commissioner General Dudley M. Hughes, Hugh V. Washington, vice commissioner, and Glascock Barrett, executive commissioner, and their wives. Mrs. John Hughes, who is hostess of the building, will be assisted by the following ladies: Mrs. Hinton and Mrs. Leasinger, of Greenville; Mrs. M. A. Lipscomb, of Atlanta; Mrs. Scott, of Rome; Miss Schofield and Miss Colbert, of Macon; Mrs. James Jackson, Mrs. Henry Parter, Mrs. Joseph Rhodes, Mrs. Perdue, Mrs. Henry Grady, of Atlanta, and all of the Georgia ladies who are visiting in St. Louis.

The above list assures the success of the reception beyond a doubt and it is safe to say that after Tuesday Georgia will have taken a decided step forward at the great fair.

The Business Side of It.

While the opening of the building Tuesday will be only a social occasion and will be occasionally followed by functions of a like character, as circumstances may demand, it may not be amiss in this letter for me to say a few words about what is being done for the good of the state in a more substantial way, by advertising her resources and the excellent system that the commissioners have adopted to bring people in direct contact with her advantages. In the first place, the Georgians in charge here are out for business and they are going to run things for results rather than show and while our state has probably spent less than any other state here, it has been judiciously and honestly used and every possible effort is being made to turn everything to some account.

The various exhibits from Georgia, while on a smaller scale than many others, are not excelled by any and without exception they possess a uniqueness that always attracts.

An Oil Fountain.

For example, in the main exhibit in the Agricultural building, which was contributed by the farmers of the state, there is a fountain of cotton seed oil which was contributed by the Southern Cotton Seed Oil Company. This fountain spouts forth 50 gallons of oil every minute and it is illuminated with hundreds of colored electric lights arranged in a most unique manner underneath the different basins of the fountain made of plate glass. It is really a wonderfully attractive feature and more beautiful than any electric fountain ever made. The result is that it has undoubtedly attracted more attention than any one exhibit in the entire fair.

Another feature of this same exhibit which attracted me, as it does almost every one, is a display of eighty-six varieties of hay grown in Georgia, which is not looked upon as a hay state.

In the Mines and Metallurgy building there is an exhibit of minerals splendidly arranged which stands more than a favorable comparison with the best in the building. This is a part of the state museum and will do good work for the state.

In the Forestry there is an exhibit of the state museum, which also is a part of the state museum. These two exhibits are all that is displayed by the state proper and they are indeed a credit to any state.

The Forestry building also contains an exhibit of naval stores, made by the Savannah board of trade, which draws a great deal of attention. In the Agricultural building the Georgia Ship Growers' Association has a most striking exhibit. It is an old log cabin where an old negro mammy dispenses battercakes and Georgia sirup to a hungry and never ending crowd.

The Southern Cotton Oil Company, W. Gordon of Savannah, and the Augusta cotton exchange, have a splendid display of cotton products. In the cotton display each city is represented by its cotton exchange or the leading cotton merchants.

In addition to those mentioned there are a number of individual concerns that have displays in the main exhibit.

To Replenish Exhibits.

The commissioners propose during the summer and fall to add to the agricultural exhibit in the way of displaying fresh fruits, etc. For instance, it is proposed to display the Elberta peach and crates of this fruit will be given away. The same will be done with the fine specimens of Georgia watermelons and other products of our state. But the mere displaying of these varied things is not all that is being done to advertise the state.

Informing the Visitors.

At every Georgia exhibit those in attendance are supplied with the following blanks:

Georgia—For information concerning Georgia peach lands, Georgia agricultural lands, Georgia timber lands, Georgia naval stores, Georgia marble, Georgia granite, Georgia manufacturing sites, miscellaneous information. Fill out this blank with name and address and mail to Glascock Barrett, assistant commissioner, Georgia state building, world's fair grounds, checking the lines of information wanted.

When a visitor to any of the booths wants information or seems interested, his or her name is taken by the one in attendance. The subject they may be interested in is checked off and every night the above blanks filled out during the day are turned in at the office of the executive commissioner. Then Mr. Barrett gets busy, and as he says, "goes out for results." He immediately gives the inquiries party all the information he can on the subject he may be interested in, but that is not all; they are also put in communication with some party or organization in the state best able to give the specific information desired. Strange to say, no other state has a like system; in fact, none of them seem to have any means of advertising beyond the mere display of their products. I do not believe that Georgia has ever taken a step that will result in more good to the state than the display her people have made at this truly wonderful show. Every city and every section will, I believe, in time reap the benefit of what they have done in contributing toward making the display a success.

DIVORCE CASE WAS SURPRISE.

Acquaintances of Mr. and Mrs. Ike Henderson Did Not Know They Were Separated.

Covington, Ga., June 20.—(Special.)—The news of the divorce and alimony proceedings of Mrs. Edna Henderson against her husband, Ike P. Henderson, before Judge L. S. Roan, of the Stone mountain circuit, in Atlanta, has produced quite a sensation in Covington.

Mr. and Mrs. Henderson have resided here since their marriage several years ago. Mr. Henderson himself having been reared in Covington. They were both held in high esteem by their numerous friends in this city and it was not known by their most intimate acquaintances that difference of an irreconcilable nature existed between them. Mrs. Henderson left Covington about six weeks ago for her home near Atlanta, but the impression was that it was only one of her accustomed visits to her parents, and there was not the slightest suspicion among their friends here of any domestic unhappiness.

Mr. Henderson is one of the wealthiest citizens of Covington, and his relatives here are among the most prominent people in this section of the state.

PIEDMONT PARK DEEDED TO CITY

Payments Designated and Property Described--Other Real Estate Transfers.

The deed for Piedmont park to the city was filed at the court house yesterday for record. The city has made a cash payment of $20,000 to the Piedmont Exposition Company.

In the deed it is stated: "That in consideration of the sum of $20,000 in cash, and for the recommendation of the payment of $10,000, without interest, in January, 1905, and $8,000, at 6 per cent, on or before January, 1906, and $12,000 paid by donations in preferred and common stock of the Piedmont Exposition Company," the property is conveyed, etc.

The description of the property is as follows:

In land lots 54, 55 and 106 of the 17th district, commencing at a certain point and running east 2,897 feet to the Boulevard road; thence along said road 37 feet to the right of way of the Atlanta and Charlotte Air Line railroad; thence north along said road 4,448 feet; thence south by west 703 feet to the Plastera Bridge road; thence along said road 4,261 feet, following bends of the road; thence east 337 feet; thence south 673 feet to the point of beginning.

The property of the Piedmont Driving Club, which is included in the territory described, is excepted.

The park contains 185 acres.

The warrant for the property was drawn in favor of the Piedmont Exposition Company and was given to Jack J. Spalding after the voucher had been approved by Chairman Inman, of the finance committee.

The letter from Captain English and Mr. Thompson requested as follows:

"That the city at once proceed with revising the grade of Mitchell street, between Forsyth street and Madison avenue, and properly pave this street."

"That the city revise the grade of Alabama street from a point near the engine house to the intersection of Madison avenue and properly pave the same."

"That the city immediately proceed to pave Madison avenue between Alabama and Peters streets."

Mr. Carter's Resolution.

The resolution of Councilman Carter upon this subject, which was adopted, is as follows:

"Whereas, the city of Atlanta expended large sums of money on Madison avenue and contiguous streets in order to accommodate changes of grade made necessary by the construction of the new union passenger depot; and

"Whereas, it was at least part of the consideration for this expenditure that the city should be benefited by the construction of a curve around to and joining with Alabama street, making a street of equal width to the street so joined, and the railroads have allowed this space to be graded for street purposes, but it is deemed advisable that a formal writing expressing the intent to dedicate this strip would better protect the city and adjoining property owners;

"Therefore, be it resolved by the mayor and general council, that the mayor and city at once negotiate with the Atlanta Terminal Company or railroad holding title to this strip, and have the dedication and title to the strip in the form of a deed or other act of such form as may be of permanent record."

WILL GIVE CITY DEED TO LAND

Atlanta Terminal Company Wants
Grade Changes Made.

Officers Inform Mayor Howell That Company Is Willing to Give Deed to Madison Avenue
as Soon as Street Work Commences.

Changes desired by the Atlanta Terminal Company in the grades of the streets surrounding the new passenger depot were made the subject of a communication from Mayor Howell to the general council yesterday afternoon, this being based upon a communication to the mayor from Captain James W. English, president of the Atlanta Terminal Company, and J. S. B. Thompson, general agent of the Southern railway, which was received by the mayor yesterday morning.

In his message to the general council the mayor brings out the fact that the terminal company is willing to give to the municipal government a deed to the strip of land used in widening Madison avenue as soon as council commences the work that is to be done on the streets surrounding the station.

Councilman Carter presented to council a resolution touching on this same subject that was directly in line with the suggestion of Mayor Howell. It was adopted.

The communication of the mayor and the letter from the terminal company were referred to the street committee for action and a report will be made during the next session of council.

The Mayor's Message.

"To the General Council—Gentlemen: I submit herewith a communication received by me this morning from Captain James W. English, president of the Atlanta Terminal Company, and J. S. B. Thompson, general agent of the Southern railway, in regard to the construction of the passenger station of the Atlanta Terminal Company."

"I have been informed that the Atlanta Terminal Company has given notice that they will cease the occupancy of the passenger depot on the 31st day of next December."

"I request that this communication be referred to the street committee with instructions to take the matter up and have the streets requested to be paved, paved as soon as possible."

"We have received no deeds for the ground given to us by the Southern railway on Madison avenue and the Central Railroad of Georgia along the same street and I have notified these parties that this will be expected by the city before any work would be done on this street, and I am informed that they are ready to comply with this request as soon as the city is ready to commence work. Respectfully, EVAN P. HOWELL, Mayor."

The letter from Captain English and Mr. Thompson requested as follows:

"That the city at once proceed with revising the grade of Mitchell street, between Forsyth street and Madison avenue, and properly pave this street."

"That the city revise the grade of Alabama street from a point near the engine house to the intersection of Madison avenue and properly pave the same."

"That the city immediately proceed to pave Madison avenue between Alabama and Peters streets."

How to Judge Beer

POINTS OF EXCELLENCE

"BRILLIANCY"—Clarity and polish, proving perfect brewing and fermentation.

"CLEAN" TASTE—The absence of a disagreeable foreign or "after-taste," proving scrupulous cleanliness during the brewing process.

"SOLID, CREAMY FOAM"—An infallible indication of body, age and excellence of brewing material.

"PURITY"—Impossible to find in most bottled beers, because their preservation is gained through chemical adulteration.

"FLAVOR"—The distinctive individual characteristic of any beverage, as peculiar to it alone as its odor to the rose. A delicious and pronounced hop aroma is the highest standard.

is the ONLY beer that possesses all of these essential qualifications. Its purity is absolutely guaranteed by its makers. It is the ONLY beer that can be so guaranteed, because it is the ONLY beer bottled exclusively at the brewery.

COUNCIL HELD BRIEF SESSION

Members Did Not Waste Time in Debate Yesterday.

As was predicted by those who knew what the general council would consider yesterday afternoon the session was very brief and few matters of importance arose for consideration. The meeting began at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and by 5 o'clock all business had been transacted and the body was ready for a motion to adjourn.

Very few new ordinances and resolutions were presented. One, however, was presented by the committee on police affairs, of which Councilman Hillburn is chairman. It provided that section 1,539 of the city code of 1899 be so amended as to permit the retailing of spirituous and malt liquors on Walton street between Peachtree and Broad streets. A saloon has been in existence on the south side of Walton street between the streets mentioned for the past eleven years, but there was no authority for it in the ordinance which names the streets in Atlanta upon which liquors can be sold. The measure presented yesterday merely made legal the existence of the saloon on the street. It was unanimously adopted.

The meeting began with prayer by Rev. Father O. N. Jackson, pastor of St. Anthony church, of West End.

Mayor Howell submitted a correspondence with J. B. Frant, who complained of the smoke from the hoisting machine on the site of the Candler building. The matter was referred to the street committee, Alderman Terry chairman.

From the committee on bridges, Councilman Bruce chairman, came a recommendation that the contract for the abutments of Edgewood avenue bridge be awarded to Ferrow Concrete Company, of Baltimore, which agreed to do the work for $12,400. The abutment will reach from the east side of Gunby street to the east side of the bridge. The recommendation of the committee was adopted.

From the printing committee, Alderman Woodward chairman, came a resolution providing that $2,500 be appropriated for the printing of annual reports of the municipality for the years 1902 and 1903. Alderman Inman presented a resolution appropriating $1,200 for the same purpose, the money to be taken from the appropriation heretofore made for the construction of a juvenile ward at the police barracks. Both resolutions were referred to the finance committee for action.

The report of the street committee, Alderman Terry chairman, regarding the improvements of the Southern railway desires making in the western section of the city was referred to the committee, opposition having developed.

The opposition came principally from Councilman Breitenbacher, of the fifth ward delegation, was stated that the report gave permission to the Southern railway to construct a commercial track across Magnolia street. He objected to this because Magnolia street is practically the only safe inlet to the city from the west side. He did not want to make a grade crossing of it. Because of the opposition of Councilman Breitenbacher, the measure was referred to the committee.

Just as the session was about to close, Mrs. A. B. Brown and little son, Reginald, of Knoxville, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Etheridge on Woodward avenue.

Miss Lillian Green is the guest of relatives in Tifton, Ga.

Mrs. John Dunwoody and children are spending some time with relatives in Roswell, Ga.

Misses Susie Hughes and Louise Scott of West Point, are the guests of Mrs. W. S. Duncan, on Capitol avenue.

Mrs. Frank L. Houser, of Fort Valley, Ga., niece, Miss Caroline Hyatt, of Washington, D. C., are guests of the Wigwam, Indian Springs.

The sales will continue today and probably a day or two longer, for, while the selling is brisk, the quantities in each line are very large.

BALL COMMENDS JUVENILE COURT

Disagrees with Criticisms of Several Other Police Officers.

As Matters Are Now Arranged, the Youthful and Hardened Criminals Are Not Properly Separated—Chief Ball To Make Improvements.

Chief of Police John W. Ball and Probation Officer J. M. Gloer claim the juvenile court has been a success since its establishment, and that Captain Jennings, Call Officer Abbott, Turnkey Jolly and other officers who think differently are mistaken.

Probation Officer Gloer submitted a report to Chief Ball yesterday morning showing that 150 cases had been made since April 5, the date the juvenile court was established. A close inspection of the records, made last night, shows that since the establishment of the juvenile court 344 cases have been made against children under 16 years old. Of this number 167 are on the juvenile docket, 160 on the regular recorder's docket and 17 on the state docket. This covers a period of just exactly seventy-five days.

The same records show that from January 1 to April 1, just exactly 90 days, 409 cases were made against children under 16 years of age. This was during the holiday season, when a large number of children were sent in on charges of stealing toys, discharging fire crackers and other trivial offenses incident to the holiday season.

The report submitted by Probation Officer Gloer shows that there was a decrease of 138 cases during the past seventy-five days as compared with the ninety days preceding. The examination of the books show that for the first ninety days of this year there were 65 cases more than for the past seventy-five days. The difference between the report of Officer Gloer and that made last night is just 194 cases more than have been made in the past seventy-five days than he submitted in the report.

Chief Ball's Views. Chief of Police John W. Ball is of the opinion that the juvenile court is a good thing if there are the necessary facilities for handling the children. He has asked council for a department for boys and girls under 16 years of age, but council has not provided one.

It has been the intention of Chief Ball to have apartments fitted up over the stables in the rear of the barracks, and have the juvenile offenders locked there when they are sent in. They would then be away from the contaminating influence of the older prisoners.

"As it is now a certain ward in the barracks has been set apart for the incarceration of the youngsters. This is next to the department occupied by the negro women. White boys and negroes, of all kinds and classes are locked together here when it is found necessary to lock boys up. That is, when the offense is considered too serious for the defendants to be given a copy of charges.

While waiting for the regular court to end, the juvenile court is to be convened, the boys are in the same big detention room with the older prisoners, remaining there sometimes for hours.

The only difference now between the old method and the new is that the boys are supposed to be put on a different docket, and tried in a different court. They are kept together in the detention room while court is in progress, and the same four walls shelter them during the time they are locked in cells.

"It is a success in other cities," said Chief Ball last night, "and we could make it a success here if we had the necessary equipment. As it is we have no facilities for handling the juvenile offenders, but we do have some."

All of last night four little negro boys were locked in a cell, asleep on the same iron bunk, which is six feet long and three feet wide, while in the next cell, asleep on an iron bunk, was a little white fellow, who had been sent in during the day.

In a card addressed to The Constitution, in which he refers to the quotation of a police officer on the subject of the juvenile court, Crawford W. Jackson declares that the police, as a class, are opposed to the juvenile court in all cities where the court has been introduced. He declares that Atlanta is no exception to the rule.

He gives as a reason for this opposition that the system uncovers the cruelty of some individual officers which was inflicted upon juvenile offenders under the old system. He cites a case in the Atlanta police barracks, in which he declares an officer stood by and permitted an older prisoner to thrash a youthful prisoner. He intimates that the matter may be taken up in legal manner and the officer punished if his guilt can be proved.

In making these statements Mr. Jackson does not refer to Chief of Police John W. Ball, who is in favor of the new system. To the police department as a whole, but to certain individual officers.

The card follows: Editor Constitution: I see in yesterday's issue an attack on the present juvenile court and probation system which is unsigned, and ought therefore to go unnoticed, except that it will have some sympathy among those who do not know, or who do not care to ascertain, the facts. The trouble about that

ATLANTA PSYCHOLOGISTS WOULD CURE INEBRIATES

An offer has been made by the Atlanta Psychological Society to cure five inebriates and five cigarette-smoking boys every month.

The offer holds good for the six months beginning July 1 and ending December 31, and within certain limits is free to every sufferer from either the drink or cigarette evils, the cure being a process of psychological suggestion.

The Atlanta Psychological Society meets every Sunday afternoon in the Austell building. Its object is the study of human nature and human nerve and brain organizations for the purpose of benefiting humanity by the dissemination of knowledge concerning these matters.

The interviews with prominent citizens which appeared in yesterday's issue of The Constitution, advocating the establishment of an inebriate annex to the Grady hospital attracted the attention of this little band of students and they determined, through their president, R. B. Harrison, to make the offer which appears below:

Ormond, born at Hampton, N. Y., in 1821, and educated for the ministry at the Auburn seminary, Mr. Sone came to Illinois in 1840 and was one of the first circuit riders in the state. He often rode long distances in company with Abraham Lincoln, the latter being among those who opposed violence to Joseph Smith, although bitterly opposed to Mormonism. The Rev. Mr. Sone came to Chicago in 1855. He died various Chicago papers until he retired from the active ministry in 1882.

Charlotte, N. C., June 20.—(Special.)—Mrs. A. G. Brenizer, wife of Charles Brenizer, of the Commercial National bank of this city, died very suddenly at her home this afternoon at 4:15 o'clock. Death was due to heart trouble.

news item is that it does not contain facts. It stated that there was an increase of arrests among juvenile offenders of 500 per cent since the new system was adopted. Judge Broyles is his authority yesterday for saying that there has been very little increase, if any, in the arrests of juveniles. The only difference in their names are now put on a separate docket, whereas before they were mixed with the adults and other cases. The official report of Officer Gloer proves that there has been a decrease of 138 arrests in three months, the number of juveniles being only 167, the statement given in yesterday's paper a serious mistake, but that the juvenile court was doing a good work. It might be added that the policemen, as a class, in every city where the juvenile court has been introduced, are its strongest opponents. Why? Because the new system more than any other uncovers the cruelty which was inflicted upon the children under the old system, but some of the best policemen in this city are in favor of the new order, as I have it from their own lips. As for those who are not in favor of it, and especially those who have been officially cruel to the children, it seems to me it would be wise for them to keep quiet. To be a little more specific, there was a child prisoner, unfortunately named, who was in the barracks not a great while back and an older prisoner. There were two reliable authorities who saw the child and the older prisoner, and they were ready to come into court and testify. Moreover, there is a leading citizen and a banker in this city who stands ready to take his lawyer and probe that case to the bottom, and there are literally hundreds of the best citizens in Atlanta who think that the new system is a good one, and that the police officers or officer who stood by and allowed that boy, however bad, to be mercilessly beaten by another prisoner, ought to be removed from office. It is not too late yet for this to be done, though some of us are more concerned about the change of the cruel system and the reformation of a number of wayward boys than the removal of anybody from office. We make no threats, but we state facts, and we mean to push this battle for the boys in every honorable way, never being willing for a moment for such serious misrepresentations to go before the public unchallenged.

I would like for the author or authors of those statements to give their names, and then give, from the actual dockets, statistics that can be accepted as facts. Yours truly, establishing an inebriate annex to the Grady hospital in one which should be met with the hearty approval of every citizen of Atlanta. As it will take some time to get the movement in active operation I wish to make an offer in behalf of the Atlanta Psychological Society. This society will undertake to cure five inebriates and five boys addicted to the cigarette habit each month, beginning July 1, 1904, at all expense to any one.

"The only requirements necessary will be that the applicants be citizens of Atlanta, who wish to be restored to sobriety and health. All applications must be made in writing, and applicants vouched for by two citizens of Atlanta. The treatment will be by psychological suggestion. Yours sincerely,

"ROBERT BRYAN HARRISON." This is the first public essay on the part of the society to put into operation the theories studied by the members. They are firm in the faith of the efficacy of the treatment proposed and back that faith now with the foregoing offer. Not only the members of the society but the public generally will be interested in the outcome.

GROWERS MEET ON WEDNESDAY

Annual Convention of Old Association Opens Tomorrow.

The American Association of Nurserymen, established nearly thirty years ago, will hold its twenty-ninth annual convention at the Piedmont hotel next Wednesday.

That the industry of growing and dealing in trees, plants and vines is large is shown by the fact that there are 60,000 persons engaged in the business in the United States, with $55,000,000 invested, a property valuation of $45,000,000, and something over three billion plants and trees. The business is largely carried on by correspondence, and large tracts of land as well as a big working force is required to handle it. The convention of the nurserymen will draw for its members on every state in the union, from the peach orchards that have made middle Georgia famous to the apple orchards of the north and west. Several growers from other foreign countries will attend.

A splendid programme has been arranged. All topics will be discussed which have any bearing whatever on the raising of trees, plants, and vines and their sale.

The chief reason for holding the convention in Atlanta this year is the proximity of the great peach orchards of Georgia. Atlanta is centrally located, the members of the convention to see the orchards when they are heavily laden. A Georgia barbecue will be held at the orchards of the J. P. Burckmans Company at Mayfield, to which an excursion will run from Atlanta. Excursions will go also to Macon, Fort Valley and the Hale, Albough and Rumph orchards.

Governor Terrell will welcome the convention to Georgia, and Mayor Howell to the city of Atlanta. Vice President F. A. Weber, of St. Louis, will preside over the convention in the absence of President N. W. Hale, of Knoxville, Tenn., who will be kept away from the convention on account of business.

Bug Worries Farmers.

Jackson, Miss., June 20.—(Special.)—The farmers of Holmes county are very much worried over the appearance of an insect in that county which is proving very destructive to the cotton crop. The insect is of the beetle species, black in color, and in size is somewhat similar to the beetle of the cotton plant, eating away the soft parts, and depositing its eggs in the fiber, multiplying the species in large numbers, and causing the stalk to die within a few days.

Baptist Convention Meets.

Jackson, Miss., June 20.—(Special.)—The sixty-eighth annual session of the Mississippi Baptist convention will be held this year at Hattiesburg, commencing on the 6th of July and continuing several days.

ARKWRIGHT IS THANKED.

Gift of $5,000 to Great Zoo Was Made Subject of Motion in Council.

President Preston S. Arkwright, of the Georgia Railway and Electric Company, was thanked by council during its session yesterday afternoon for his action in donating for the street railway company $5,000 for the purchase of new animals for the Great Zoo at Grant park. $1,000 to be paid each year for five years.

Mayor Howell sent council a communication regarding the matter. This was followed by a motion by Alderman Woodward that the city express its appreciation of the gift. The motion was adopted by a rising vote and City Clerk Campbell was directed to communicate the fact to the street railway company and its president.

Following is the concluding paragraph of the message of Mayor Howell: "There is one thing which is greatly needed and which I have called attention to. It is a good drive from the center of the city to Grant park. It would greatly improve the park to have this drive and would add much to the comfort and importance of the park for our citizens and visitors."

WARRANT FOR BATTLESBY

Charged with Killing Brown in February Last.

Punta Gorda, Fla., June 20.—R. J. Clark swore out before County Judge Poyer, at Arcadia, a warrant for the arrest of George A. Battlesby, of this place, charging Battlesby with the murder of Marshal J. Bowman, who was assassinated January 29 last year. I. E. Cooper was convicted of this offense, and his case is now before the pardoning board. Clark is evidently a detective, but has been repairing sewing machines. Battlesby was arrested today and taken to Arcadia. Public sentiment seems to be with Battlesby.

Bug Worries Farmers.

Jackson, Miss., June 20.—(Special.)—The farmers of Holmes county are very much worried over the appearance of an insect in that county which is proving very destructive to the cotton crop. The insect is of the beetle species, black in color, and in size is somewhat similar to the beetle of the cotton plant, eating away the soft parts, and depositing its eggs in the fiber, multiplying the species in large numbers, and causing the stalk to die within a few days.

ONE MAN DEAD ANOTHER SHOT

John Sharp Williams Is Very Strong in His District.

Jackson, Miss., June 20.—(Special.)—Congressman John Sharp Williams, democratic minority leader, has announced as a candidate for reelection in this district.

Mr. Williams has no opponent. There is a possibility that an opponent might be snubbed while making a canvass of the district. The Madison county politician, who remarked, "There ain't going to be no more elections in the eighth district," expressed the unanimous sentiment of Mr. Williams' constituents.

COMER FILES LIBEL SUITS

He Wants $80,000 Damages from Age-Herald and Ledger.

Birmingham, Ala., June 20.—(Special.)—R. B. Comer filed libel suits in the city court today aggregating $80,000 against the Age-Herald Company, the Ledger Publishing Company, and the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company.

The suits grew out of publications made during Comer's campaign for railroad commissioner last spring and are based on the publication of an affidavit purporting to have been made by E. A. Dickert, who claimed to be a cousin of Comer's, and in substance stated that Comer had tried to induce him (Dickert) to take for himself certain money of the railroad company for some repairs done on the tracks of the company at the Avondale cotton mills. The papers are sued for publishing and the railroad company for causing same to be published.

NOTES OF GAME

The locals started off their road trip auspiciously yesterday afternoon by defeating Montgomery.

Shreveport also handed a little dose to New Orleans, bringing them down to ten or fifteen points below 600.

Red Ebert pitched a good game for Memphis.

Rain at Nashville prevented the game scheduled with Birmingham.

The results of the day's work brought all four leading teams in the first division nearer to each other. The lead maintained by the Pelicans was reduced considerably and will be brought down still further if Shreveport continues her good work.

The Pirates are evening up in great shape for the walling administration to them by the Pelicans in the earlier part of the season. In the longest lane there are some turnings.

Dick Crozier's little single won the game, bringing in Demont from third base, where he had arrived through a base on balls, a stolen base and a wild throw combined.

At least three runs were scored yesterday by Atlanta and Montgomery by players who reached first via the free-base route. It is much better to let man get a measly three-base hit than to give him a pass.

There was a chewing-the-rag match at the Montgomery game yesterday afternoon. Clarke of Montgomery, Krug, Demont, Pabst, Umpire Shaw and a few others had their say.

Manager Powell is preparing to assume the title "The Tebeau of the South."

It is to be hoped that he succeeds in landing a pitcher from Connie Mack. Mack has several Atlanta might be able to use. Henley could be taken care of and Waddell would be acceptable.

McMakin has now worked out in five games, winning two out the last three.

Shreveport is still up in the air in regard to their third baseman. Schaub, claimed by Toronto, Toledo seems to have worked a skin game on Glicks.

Frank remarked some time ago that he could have sold his players disposed of by him to other Southern League teams for the sum of $1,200. As the three players referred to were Evans, Holly and Dannehower, the public can judge how long it would be before he could realize that sum on these men. Holly is worth his share of the money, but Evans and Dannehower are costly presents.

Atlanta has a great chance now to make at least an even break with the eastern teams on the trip.

If Powell can buy the Charleston franchise he will have a place ready for Winters, Hollingsworth and any other men whom he does not need on the Crackers. Just as soon as Holly regains his batting eye he will be an acceptable man for any team.

Smith pitched great ball for Atlanta yesterday afternoon, and, minus errors and other things of the same nature, would have worked out a 2-to-1 game against the Legislators.

Hale also worked out a good game, and with any kind of support would have come out on the top rank wobbles by his teammates, however, sent his chances glimmering.

Frank Wilson will probably oppose McMakin in the box today. Frank will probably do his level best to win.

SOLONS COMING
FOR MEETING

Third Session of Present General Assembly Convenes Wednesday.

Tomorrow morning the gavel of the presiding officers of the Georgia legislature will call that body to order for the transaction of fifty days' law-making business. This will be the last session of the present body, which has already met twice before.

A large number of legislators arrived in Atlanta yesterday and many more will reach the city today. It is thought that the session will open with a full attendance.

There are a number of important matters to come before the general assembly, among them being the general tax act and appropriation bills, the Australian ballot bill and the state reformatory bill. Both the appropriation bill and the tax act will be enacted for a period of one year only, instead of two, as is customary. This is necessary, as otherwise the present legislature would be encroaching on the province of its successor.

An important adjunct to the tax act is the pending bill providing for a state board of arbitrators to pass upon controversies growing out of the franchise tax act. This bill also provides for boards of equalization in the various counties of the state. At present the measure is in the hands of a committee and it is thought will provoke some lively debate when the committee brings in its report.

The Australian ballot bill and the state reformatory bill both embody important civic questions, and will arouse the interest of the members of both houses.

There will be no election of officers, President of the Senate Clark Howell being elected. It was necessary for the old one to hold the June meeting established by law.

Governor Terrell will send his message to the legislature one day this week, perhaps, on Wednesday, the opening day of the session. It is expected that this message will contain reiterations of the previous messages of the governor, and also the views outlined in his re-

BOBBY TO MEET BIG FRENCHMAN

Race at Stadium Tonight Should Be Very Exciting.

Tonight, weather permitting, Basil DeGulchard, the young French pace follower, will meet Bobby Walthour in best two in three heats of 5 miles each.

It was intended that the race should be first heat 5 miles, second heat 10 miles, but after DeGulchard arrived in Atlanta, he had the matter over with Walthour and both agreed that the race should be 5 miles heats, with the accident clause after the first mile. In case of an accident to either rider, except for a puncture or an exploded tire, the race will go on to the finish.

This will probably be the last race in which the big motors will be used, as Walthour positively refuses to ride behind them again on the local track. Last Saturday he had a bad fall, this being the second he has had here this season. Walthour is very stiff from his fall last Saturday and DeGulchard is riding fine and in good condition, and will give the Atlanta champion a hard fight for the money tonight.

The races will start promptly at 8:30 o'clock with the amateurs in a 1 mile handicap, the big race commencing promptly at 8:50.

The track record for 5 miles is 6:05. The record for 10 miles is 12:10. The race should be finished easily by 9:10, giving lots of room for little delays. The accident clause has been removed with the exception as to tire explosions, and there should be no delays about motors.

With two good pace followers like Walthour and DeGulchard, the race tonight should be one of the best seen here this season.

Montgomery, Ala., June 20.—(Special.)—Atlanta defeated Montgomery today in a pretty ten-inning game by a score of 4 to 3.

It was a pitchers' battle, and Hale pitched much better ball than Smith, but his support at times was miserable. Hale yielded one hit in the first inning and then refused to let another Atlanta man touch the ball for a safety until the ninth. He was a little wild.

The play of Koehler in center was brilliant. In the seventh Delehanty hit for a long drive between right and center. Koehler made a dive for it and caught it with one hand while running. It was the prettiest piece of work seen on this diamond. The fans gave him an ovation.

Morse let Montgomery tie the score in the ninth by throwing wild to Stafford. There was only one sacred run and Montgomery got it. Smith struck out nine men.

Krug threw the ball at Umpire Shaw in the fourth inning because Shaw let Pabst score on Delehanty's fly out to left. Krug claimed Pabst did not stay on the ball until the ball was caught. Both sides kicked good and hard against the umpiring of Shaw and Wood. The umpire did not see Krug throw the ball at him and took no action so far as he can be learned.

McMakin will pitch against Wilson tomorrow. Demont worked his trick of fooling the catching to throw wild to second successfully.

PLANT'S BOAT FAILED TO WIN

But the Emperor William's Cup Was Won by American Boat.

Hellgoland, June 20.—Dr. J. G. Douglas Yawl Valdora was the winner of the race for the Emperor William cup over the course from Dover to Hellgoland, which started Saturday morning.

The schooner Ingomar, owned by Morton F. Plant, of New York, was first to reach the winning post, but did not get a place, owing to the fact she was a scratch boat and had to allow the competitors handicaps ranging from five to nine and a half hours.

PARK WAS THICK WITH POLICEMEN

Small Attendance at Washington Park Yesterday.

On Account of Mayor's Order Against Betting, Not More Than Two Thousand Persons Saw Races, Against 16,900 Last Year.

Chicago, June 20.—Although a fairly good programme was offered at Washington park, not more than 2,000 persons saw the events run off. The same conditions that governed the racing Saturday prevailed today, the edict of Mayor Harrison against wagering money on the races being rigidly enforced. What little business, if any, that was done was transacted in secret and between friends. Nearly 200 of the city's policemen, under Assistant Chief Schuetzler, were there to see that the ultimatum against betting was adhered to and in view of the fact that no matter how much it will cost the fifty or more idle bookmakers to transact business. On the corresponding day last year, with the conditions at the track as the same as today, with the exception that bookmaking was allowed, more than 16,900 persons paid admission to the grounds. The officials of the track declare that despite the poor attendance and the consequent loss of money, the meeting will run the full twenty-five days no matter how much it will cost the Washington Park Jockey Club.

A bad accident occurred in the fourth race, in which Sky Pilot broke his leg and was afterwards shot and killed upon order of the horse's owner, Jockey Conley, who had the mount, was severely injured. Another accident happened in the fifth event. As the horses were rounding the back stretch Rough and Tumble, which was well in front, stumbled and fell. Greenfield, who had the mount, was badly shaken up and several of his teeth escaped injury. Weather not; track fast.

COTTON IRREGULAR
AROUND OPENING

Later Turned Very Weak Under Aggressive Selling by the South.

ROOM TRADERS ASSISTED

New York Closed Steady 15 to 37 Points Lower, While New Orleans at the Close Was Off 10 to 24 Points.

New York, June 20.—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 3 to 5 points on the old crop, while the new crop was 2 points higher to 2 points lower. The steadiness was due to rather better cables than expected, accompanied by very bullish private advices from Liverpool to the effect that advance was probable on the theory that the market was oversold. The early weather reports, however, were almost ideal, showers being needed in sections where dry weather beginning to give ground for some complaint, and after some irregular trading the opening figures the market turned very weak under aggressive selling by the south and large local room traders. There were occasional slight reactions during the balance of the session, but as a general thing the list ruled very weak, particularly on the old crop months, whose premiums over the latter positions were still further reduced. The lower level of the day was reached in the late trading when July sold at 10.55, August at 10.35, October at 9.44 and December at 9.42, these being net declines on the old crop of 27 to 42 points and about 18 points on the latter positions. During the close the market rallied slightly on room covering and was finally steady at a net loss of 24 1/2 points on the old crop and of 16 1/2 points on the new crop months. Sales were estimated at 150,000 bales. After some irregular trading immediately following the local opening at Liverpool weakened and closed about the proper figure. The market was during the day that market leaders were buying openly in New Orleans, but the south was a free seller in the local market during the entire session as a result of the excellent weather and reports of unsatisfactory trade conditions. Southern spot markets were generally quiet and unchanged to 1/2c lower. The local spot market declined 4 1/2 points to 11.25, or about 1/2c below the prices on the same day last year.

New Orleans Cotton Market.
New Orleans, June 20.—Spot cotton demand and supply limited. Sales 2,500 bales, including 1,100 to arrive and 300 f. o. b. Quotations steady.
Futures opened steady. Prices were from 3 points down to 2 up. The trading was very light, caused by the desire on the part of many operators to wait for tomorrow's weekly government report on the crop before making transactions on either side. The bears have been describing crop conditions as ideal, and there is much curiosity to know whether the bureau will lean toward the bulls or the bears. The bulls still hang to the bull as their trump card. In the trading July was 10.55, advanced to 10.35, closed at 10.25, advanced to 10.35, and finally declined to 10.27. The market closed quiet, the following net losses of 22 to 24 points on the old crop months and 10 to 19 on the new crop positions.

The Dry Goods Market.
New York, June 20.—The principal feature of the dry goods market has been the announcement of a western jobber, quoting prices 1/2c to 1c under the market in certain lines of bleached and ticks. Business at first hands has been of an indifferent nature, buyers not feeling confidence in the situation.

MARKET REVIEWS

Hubbard Bros. & Co.
COTTON—The feature of the forenoon has been the demand for the old crop of July and August deliveries. New crops have been steadier, though lower, but the old crop advanced 1/2c to 1c, and with the gradual closing of the July interest the premium is gradually being lost. Liverpool gave some encouragement for better markets at the opening, but the apathy of the situation with the good crop prospects outweighs the temporary enthusiasm. A good report is expected tomorrow, and the only element which may steady the market is the movement in the possible oversold condition which may at any time be discovered. The spot market at 45 points decline.

Southern Exchange.
COTTON—The trend of cotton, with the exception of a rally on short covering now and then, has been downward. Since we quoted in a previous letter that the expiration of the July option, the market has been declining ever since, July breaking to 11c twice during last week and closing at practically the lowest point on Saturday. Those who sold on our advice have now a profit of 50 to 75 points
